GREATER NEW YORK HEARS TAFT

Republican Candidate Starts in With Brooklyn in His Tour of the Country's Metropolis.

MENTIONS ANOTHER OF BRYAN'S CHANGES

Quick Trip Into Connecticut in Forenoon Is Interrupted By Speeches at Several Places Besides City of New Haven.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Devoting the day to a trip into Connecticut and the evening to speech making in Brooklyn, William H. Taft's first day of active campaigning on his present visit to this section was carried on with vigor and earnestness. While the day, despite its call for a speech of some length in New Haven and a shorter one at Port Chester on the return trip to New York, was one of comparative ease for the Republican candidate, the calls that were made upon him in Brooklyn tonight were such as to keep actively occupied every moment.

When he entered that portion of Greater New York late this evening, he found himself fairly overwhelmed with calls. Before the night was over he had accomplished five speeches, eaten dinner with a hundred prominent Republicans as the guest of State Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff, reviewed a parade, and then attended a reception at the Union League club. A deluge of rain, which broke loose just at about the time that Taft was entering Brooklyn, threatened for a time to interfere with the evening's program.

It had been planned to make the parade one of the big features of the Taft demonstration and the downpour, the heaviest of the fall season thus far, continued long enough to give managers and participants some concern. The rainfall ceased, however, some time before the parade was scheduled to start, and the function was carried out with all the elaborateness planned.

Similarly successful and enthusiastic were the meetings of the night, particularly those in the Clermont rink and the Academy of Music, where Taft made his principal addresses.

Trip Into Connecticut

The feature of the trip into Connecticut was the New Haven meeting, where with football enthusiasm the candidate was pledged the support of a large portion of the student body of Yale, through the presentation of a handsomely bound memorial containing many pages of signatures. Governor Woodruff sat on the platform beside George L. Lilly, candidate for governor.

Taft delivered a pointed review of the campaign issues, in which he held uppermost the importance of the maintenance of the protective principle and the rehabilitation of business confidence. The speech was punctuated by the Yale yell, which ended with "Taft, Taft, Taft." Enthusiasm and friendliness were apparent everywhere.

When the candidate arrived at New Haven he inquired at once for his son, Robert. After the meeting, Robert, who is a junior at Yale and had been making frantic efforts to get to his father through the crowds, finally reached him at the station.

"My son," said Judge Taft, as he placed the boy's ruddy face between his hands and planted a kiss squarely on his lips. Robert was taken aboard and was an admiring listener to his father's speech at Port Chester on the way back.

Here a tremendous crowd had assembled for the purpose of listening to both William J. Bryan and Mr. Taft, who were due about the same time. Judge Taft arrived first and was met with cheers and the waving of many small flags.

Bryan's Many Changes.

"Bryan said a year ago that the recent panic was not due to Roosevelt," said Mr. Taft in his brief speech. "He now says it was due to Roosevelt. The change in one year is not exceptional in Bryan's career."

Going to New Haven, Mr. Taft spoke to crowds in the rain at Stamford, South Norwalk and Bridgeport, all stops not contemplated in his schedule. His very first utterance of the day was that Bryan had aided prosperity in no other way than to be defeated.

When the Taft special reached New York on its return run at 4:30 o'clock the candidate was taken to the Montauk Club, Brooklyn, accompanied by State Chairman Woodruff, where he was the guest of honor at a dinner participated in by 100 prominent Republicans of that city.

It required an automobile ride of an hour in a heavy downpour of rain for Mr. Taft to reach the Montauk Club in Brooklyn, where he had dinner. He arrived there at 7 o'clock. A five mile automobile ride brought Judge Taft to his first meeting. The streets were crowded. The auditorium in Metropolitan Sanger hall was filled with a Jewish audience and after five minutes of cheers had been given for Taft, the assemblage paid a hearty tribute to Oscar Straus, secretary of commerce and labor. Straus in introducing Mr. Taft said he wanted to leave no doubt that the election of Judge Taft would work the greatest benefit to the country.

"Nowhere in America," said Taft, "is there a greater spirit of freedom and love of country than right here among the people who owe so much to our immigration laws."

The one thought he wished to impress, he said, was that by the increase of the navy and army President Roosevelt had been enabled to exercise a greater influence for peace than any world ruler heretofore.

"Therefore," he continued, "we should progress to that point where no matter in what part of the world the American shall be found his certificate of citizenship shall be all that is required to insure him respect and good treatment. Nothing, if I am elected president, will give me greater pleasure than to devise ways and means to make the American passport respected the world over."

At Congress hall, the next meeting, the audience was of the same character. Mr. Taft launched into a speech to show why there was no good reason for changing the policy of the administration.

"How about the panic, Billy?" came a voice.

Mr. Taft answered by showing that Theodore Roosevelt had awakened the business moral conscience of the country and then brought out that the exponent of this moral awakening in New York today was Governor Hughes.

As to the panic, he said it came a year ago, in October. Prosperity so great resulted in wildcat schemes and consequently loss of confidence, and then the panic. This, he said, was not widespread and was now rapidly disappearing and with Republican success would speedily disappear altogether. Such, he declared, would not be the case with Democratic success.

Cheap Money Danger.

At Arion hall the candidate found an immense audience awaiting him. It was composed largely of Germans. Mr. Taft declared that to the German-Americans belonged great credit for defeat of the free silver heresy in 1896. Bryan, he said, could if elected, put the country on a silver basis by executive order.

Thirty-two blocks of a parade which divided on each side of the street, and through which Mr. Taft passed, was the big feature of the evening.

WEALTHY LUMBERMAN KIDNAPED FOR RANSOM

Demand Is Made on His Wife for $5000, But in the Meantime Victim Escapes.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Oct. 26.—A special from Mount Vernon, tonight says:

While driving to Mount Vernon this evening from his lumber camp, about fifteen miles from here, Edward English, a wealthy lumberman of Mount Vernon was held up and kidnaped by a lone robber about three miles from town. The robber forced English to make a note payable at a Mount Vernon bank and write the following letter to his wife:

"Mrs. English: Dear Wife: I am held up and kidnaped for $5,000 and I am threatened with having my ears cut off if the money is not forthcoming by tomorrow noon. For God's sake make all haste. Show this to Mr. Hanmy and solicit this sum.

"Ed. English."

Hanmy is connected with the Mount Vernon bank. The robber, within two miles of town, handed the note to a passing traveler, telling him that English had been badly hurt in a runaway and to take the missives to Mrs. English. This the stranger did. Meanwhile the bandit left his victim tied to a tree, evidently intending to return to him in the morning to see if the ransom was forthcoming.

English, however, managed to break loose from the ropes which bound him and made his way to the home of Henry Day, about two miles from Mount Vernon, where he telephoned his wife and Sheriff Harmon of Skagit county. The sheriff at once sent deputies in the hopes of securing the kidnaper. The latter is described as having one arm bandaged up.

It is believed that the stranger who brought the note to Mrs. English was a confederate.

ELKIN ANSWERS HEARST'S ADDRESS

Declares Money Forwarded to Him By Archbold Was for Campaign Contributions Only

PITTSBURG, Oct. 26.—Justice J. P. Elkin of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, who up to this time has made only a general denial of improper relations with John D. Archbold and the Standard Oil company, as inferentially charged by Mr. Hearst through the reading of a number of letters to Mr. Elkin at a political meeting in New York last Saturday night, presented a detailed statement to the Associated Press tonight, explaining the letters and the matters to which they referred.

Justice Elkin's statement follows in part:

"The evident intention of the publication of four letters read by Mr. Hearst, in which my name appears is to support an inference that the money was sent me to improperly influence legislation or for some other unworthy purpose.

"The first is a letter of introduction to Mr. Twombly, dated September 25, 1899. About that time the New York Central, through its Beech Creek connections, contemplated making extensions into my home county, where with some friends I was interested in undeveloped coal lands. We were anxious to get some definite information on the subject and it was suggested to me that I take up the subject with some officials of the railroad system. I did not know personally any person connected with the company, and asked Mr. Archbold, whom I had known since he was a struggling young man in Western Pennsylvania, to give me a letter of introduction, which was done. As it turned out, afterward, I did not use the letter, for the reason that the desired information was secured from other sources. I do not know Mr. Twombly personally and have never met him.

"The next two letters are dated February 5, 1900, and March 25, 1900, respectively, and from these letters the inference is attempted to be drawn that the money mentioned therein was intended to secure the defeat of certain legislation which was deemed objectionable. The legislature was not in session that year, there were no bills pending and the inference is manifestly unfounded.

"While the drafts mentioned were forwarded to me, they were not intended for my use. They were contributions for political purposes and were by me turned over to the campaign fund.

"As to the letter of May 5, 1901, upon which reliance is placed to connect all these matters with the suggestion of the improper use of money in influencing legislation, it must not be overlooked that this letter was written eighteen months after the Twombly letter, and one year and three months after the other two letters, which could have no reference to any legislative matter at that time. It was a letter of inquiry only, which I assume was received by me, although I do not recall the incident."

SIR WILFRID RETAINS POWER

Canadian General Election Results in Giving the Liberals a Reduced Working Majority.

CONSERVATIVE LEADER WINS SEAT IN HALIFAX

Two Ontario Constituencies Chose Members By Acclamation—Three Conservatives Win in British Columbia

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 26.—Latest returns show that Ralph Smith, Liberal, is elected in Nanaimo district and not Hawthornthwaite, the Socialist, as previously reported.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 26.—Elections for the federal house of commons were held today throughout Canada. Of the 221 constituencies in the Dominion only two, Rouville, Ont., and South York, Ont., returned members by acclamation.

In the others, with the exception of the five which hold their elections later, there was contests. The returns show that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the present premier, who in the last house had a majority of 66, will be returned to power for another five years, with a safe although reduced majority.

French Canadian Quebec remained loyal to the premier, electing a membership almost solidly liberal.

Ontario, where the conservatives expected to make their heaviest gains did not come up to expectations. Returns tonight indicate an almost evenly divided membership, compared with 39 Liberals and 47 Conservatives in the last house. The opposition gained slightly in Manitoba, but the Liberals carried the remainder of the West with but few exceptions.

Nova Scotia, which at the last general elections in 1904 returned a solid Liberal phalanx, gives the conservative party several seats.

R. T. Borden, leader of the conservatives was elected by a substantial majority in Halifax, which rejected him four years ago.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 26.—With the elections in three districts deferred, British Columbia returned three conservatives and one socialist. In Victoria the conservatives won a notable victory when Harry Barnard defeated William Templeton, minister of inland revenue, by the narrow margin of five votes.

Hawthornthwaite the socialist candidate in the coal district of Nanaimo, defeated Shepherd, conservative, and Ralph Smith, liberal labor.

Vancouver elected Cowan, conservative, and New Westminster Taylor conservative. The election in Yale Cariboo, Comox Atlin, and Kootenay have been deferred to later dates.

KERN CAMPAIGNING THROUGH INDIANA

Is Accompanied on Trip By John S. Parry, Formerly a Schmitz Commissioner in San Francisco.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 26.—On a special train, John W. Kern, Democratic candidate for vice-president, spent the day campaigning from Indianapolis to Jeffersonville. He returned to Indianapolis late tonight and immediately went to his home to make ready for his second day's tour, which will take him to the Northeast part of the state.

Mr. Kern's arguments at each stop were along the same lines. He argued that the Republican party was trying to scare the voters into line by crying panic. He declared that every unlawful trust in the United States was for Taft.

Speaking to a large crowd at Greenwood, Ind., Mr. Kern asserted that conditions under a Democratic administration could not be any worse than they were at present. He said:

"If these Republicans prevent a panic, why do they not stop the one that is now on? I saw in New York a few days ago a solid square of men lined up waiting for bread. There are hundreds of thousands of men out of work all over the country. They cannot tell these men that there is no panic now."

John S. Parry of San Francisco, a labor leader accompanying Kern, received word at Columbus, Ind., that his mother was dead. Mr. Parry was stunned by the news and finally broke down completely. He was left at a hotel in Columbus.

"HOLLERIN" FOR BRYAN DISTURBED THE PEACE

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 26.—John T. Kent, a prominent local Democratic politician, formerly employed on Bryan's paper, was fined $25 and costs today in police court for "hollerin" for Bryan.

Technically Kent was charged with disturbing the peace and with disorderly conduct. The complaints in the case were made by six members of the G. A. R. Drum Corps. They testified that when he persisted in cheering for Bryan Kent had disturbed their organization, which at the time was giving an open air drum corps concert.

FEDERAL SOLDIERS LOST WHILE ON FISHING TRIP

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 26.—Late tonight arrangements are being made at Fort Rosecrans to send out a boat to look for four members of the 24th coast artillery and an army mechanic from San Francisco. The five men left for the Coronado Islands yesterday morning on a fishing cruise, expecting to return last night. They have not been seen since. They carried food and water for only one day. It is feared that they have met with some mishap. The men are Corporal Reynolds and Private Blanchard, Wykoff and Crosby and Mechanic Hughes.

WANT EQUAL TREATMENT FOR DOMESTIC WINES

Californians Declare That Department Has Made Discrimination in Favor of Foreign Product.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—The Manufacturers and Producers' association today entered the fight to secure a reversal by the president of the recent ruling of Commissioner of Internal Revenue Capers prohibiting the use of domestic sweet wines in compounding proprietary medicines. The association sent to Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Labor Wheeler a telegram declaring that the attitude of the commissioner that materials unfit for medicinal use were sold as sweet wines is without just ground as such wines are made under the control of revenue officers. The telegram states that all the wine growers ask is the placing of domestic sweet wines on the same footing as imported wines of the same class, the latter not being subject to any restriction in medicinal use.

ARCHBOLD ANSWERS HEARST'S ADDRESS

Says He Is Proud of Having Helped in the Appointment of Morrison or Henderson.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—John D. Archbold of the Standard Oil Company, made the following statement this afternoon regarding the letter read by William R. Hearst at the Carnegie Hall meeting Saturday night:

"I am very sure that neither Judge Morrison nor Judge Henderson had any knowledge of my having written Governor Stone in their behalf. Judge Henderson was not appointed by Governor Stone to the supreme bench, but was three years later appointed by Governor Pennypacker to the superior court judgeship. If, however, any feeble word of mine could have influenced in the slightest degree the selection of those gentlemen for their respective positions I would be very proud of it. Their states have no better servants than they, and I certainly have never asked of them a favor of any kind, either for myself or for the company with which I am connected.

"My letter to General Elkin referring to the accompanying drafts related entirely to contributions to the Republican state committee then engaged in the campaign preliminary to the nomination of Mr. McKinley, a subject regarding which I think Hearst would be a little sensitive, for was it not the election and the tragic death of Mr. McKinley that came near costing Hearst his precious neck?

"The statement regarding Judge Haight is in connection with an old libel that has been explained and exploded so many times that it would be a simple weariness to the public to go over it again.

"The intimation of Mr. Hearst that he has had any communication from me or from any of my associates in connection with the stolen letters is a lie.

"The only favor which I would ask or hope ever to ask of Hearst, is that he return me the letters handed him by his larcenous gentleman friend which were written from Japan relating to the fatal illness of my daughter in that country."

FLETCHER CHARGED WITH CLARK MURDER

Wounded Man on His Knees Swore By Virgin Mary He Would Have Fletcher's Blood.

PHOENIX, Oct. 26.—A coroner's jury, composed of leading business men, today charged Dick Fletcher with the killing of Thomas Clark, and Fletcher will be arraigned tomorrow on the charge of murder. Clark's ante-mortem statement told how he had been bullied by Fletcher and charged the latter with shooting him from behind the shelter of a telephone pole. One witness told how Clark, on his knees, had sworn by the Virgin Mary, to have Fletcher's blood. Clark was an Englishman with service in the English navy and was 34 years old. He was to have been married tomorrow to Miss May E. Hay of Warren, Ills., whose coming was stopped by the telegram telling her of Clark's death. Clark admitted his named was an assumed one and would give no information concerning his relatives.

Pierce Held for Murder.

By the findings of a coroner's jury this afternoon, Jesse Pierce has been held for the killing of Ossian M. Button last night at the home of the latter. The woman today produced a revolver, which she alleged she had found under a bed, near which her husband stood when he was shot, and the defense will attempt to show that Pierce shot when in danger of his own life being taken.

EXPLOSION ALARMS BARCELONA POLICE

Incident Is Regarded As a Malicious Joke and Not an Attack on King and Queen.

BARCELONA, Oct. 26.—The authorities were greatly alarmed this afternoon by the explosion of a petard in one of the streets, but the police, after an investigation expressed themselves as attaching no importance to the incident, as King Alfonso and Queen Victoria were not within miles of the place.

The police regard the affair as a malicious joke, but they searched in vain for the authors of it.

Earlier in the day the king and queen visited the French squadron in the harbor and their launch came into collision with a steam ferry with such violence that several of those on board were thrown to the deck.

GAMBLING CRUSADE IS ON IN SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 26.—Mayor John F. Miller after a conference with Chief of Police Irving Ward today, directed the latter to start an immediate investigation of the charges that open gambling exists in Seattle.

If gambling exists or is found to have existed during the present administration such will constitute grounds for the dismissal of the patrolmen and sergeants responsible for the preservation of law and order in the districts, and may reach the captains in charge of the patrols.

NO REPLY YET MADE BY BRYAN

Nebraskan Failing to Notice Roosevelt's Question, Gompers Has to Take Up Cudgels

SAYS PRESIDENT HAS CHANGED POSITION

Sees in Roosevelt's Criticism of Him an Attack Upon All Laboring Men of Country—Claims Mitchell Is With Him

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Replying to President Roosevelt's letter to Senator Knox in reference to the application of the writ of injunction in labor disputes, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement issued today severely arraigns the president for what he terms "a change of position from at least apparent friendship to bitter, indefensible antagonism.

"It has been my pleasure," Gompers says, "to have often had the privilege of discussing with President Roosevelt a number of the fundamental questions of right, justice and moral and social uplifting. Included in these discussions were the invasions of personal rights and human liberty by the courts in the injunction abuse. It is true that the president has not always fully agreed with my contentions, but he has never, until the publication of his latest utterance, hinted, much less charged that anything that we advocated was lawless, unfeeling, brutal, or wicked, and yet the rights for which the workers of our country contend and which as best I can, I defend and advocated, have been as well known to him during the past several years as when he now so unjustifiedly undertakes to misrepresent my work, my motives and my law abiding citizenship. Surely that opinion was not always entertained by the president."

Alger and Labor's Rights

Mr. Gompers says that last February he sent Mr. Roosevelt an issue of the American Federationist in which was published the chapter, "Some Equivocal Rights of Labor," from George A. Alger's book, "Moral Overstrain."

"The chapter of the book," Mr. Gompers says, "is as keen criticism of the courts of the country in their decisions effecting the rights, interests and liberty of the workers as anything I have ever said or written."

The president in acknowledging receipt of the article sent the following: "The White House, Washington, Jan. 27, 1908.

"My Dear Mr. Gompers:—You may be amused to know that I have sent copies of the 'Moral Overstrain' to Justices Day and McKenna. I am glad that you were able to use it in the American Federationist and thank you for sending me the copy of the magazine. Sincerely yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

"To Mr. Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation of Labor, Washington, D. C."

President is Enraged

"The fact of the matter is," Mr. Gompers declares, "that President Roosevelt, having made Injunction Judge Taft the candidate of the Republican party for president and seeing that the 'labor vote' which so often has been corralled, diverted, and perverted by the politicians, is now aroused and determined to deliver its own vote; that the toilers will not be cajoled, deceived or brow-beaten, has become desperate and angry, and in his anger, by the worst exhibition of demagogism, tries to instill into the employers and business men the fear that their property and business are in danger of a 'square home' implied by equality before the law and human freedom are accorded to the workers with all other citizens. It is an exhibition of impotent rage and disappointment and an awful descent from the dignity of the high office of the president of the United States. No one but himself will be deceived as to the purpose of Mr. Roosevelt.

"The workers and liberty-loving citizens are accursed as never before since 1861. The battle cry for freedom is again taken up. Then it was for the union and the abolition of black slavery; today it is for the nation, equal rights and freedom for all."

At Labor or Gompers

Gompers insists that the president "makes a direct and specific attack upon labor" in his letter to Senator Knox.

"The pretense that the attack is upon me is too thinly veiled to deceive any one," he adds. "He strikes over my shoulder at the hearts of the great rank and file of the workers and other liberty-loving citizens of the country. So far as I am concerned, I have neither the inclination nor the desire to bask in the sunlight of President Roosevelt's 'benevolent assimilation' by which he placates some by the big stick, browbeats others, and by his sophistry hopes to fool the masses into supporting Injunction Judge Taft.

Knox and Corporations.

"President Roosevelt says that Senator Knox has a peculiar right to discuss the principles involved in injunctions because he, as attorney general, prosecuted a civil suit for damages to an injured workman. That Senator Knox was the special counsel for the Pennsylvania railroad and of the United States Steel Corporation would indeed qualify him to discuss the injunction abuses, but certainly only from the viewpoint of the friends of the corporations who profit by the abuse of the injunction writ as it brings advantage and profit to corporate greed and power.

"If the courts have not invaded human liberty, if they have not undertaken to protect corporate interests to the detriment of the people, why did President Roosevelt characterize Judge Grosscup's reversal of Judge Landis' $29,000,000 fine upon the Standard Oil trust as 'a gross miscarriage of justice?'

Not Against All Injunctions.

INSANE CONSUMPTIVE SHOOTS YOUNG BRIDE

Girl Who Had Nursed Arizona Banker, Married Him, Only to Lose Her Life.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 26.—E. B. Knox, formerly cashier of the Phoenix National bank, shot and mortally wounded his wife this morning in the yard of the home of L. E. Hewins, at 1303 East Washington street. Three shots went wild and the fourth passed through the woman's body, close under the heart. Wounded as she was, she ran into the house, while Knox after snapping the revolver vainly at his head, hacked at the veins of his wrists with a penknife. When arrested he was found to be insane, wildly talking of plots to kill him by turning an electric current through his body. He is a hopeless consumptive and the disease appears to have reached his brain. He has been taken to a hospital where his condition is believed critical. In a nearby room is the wife slowly dying.

The couple were married in San Francisco last March, after the bride, Miss Ida Foxhall, had spent part of the winter in nursing Knox in the same hospital where they now lie. They returned lately from California, expecting to buy a ranch near Phoenix, and had been visiting the Hewins family for a day.

Knox had the highest standing here and was considered an extremely mild mannered man. He came from New York, but his home was at Knoxville, Illinois, where a millionaire brother died last year.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 26.—The state court of appeals held today that municipal ordinances that conflict with the law which licenses the locker clubs were illegal. The decision was handed down in the case of a Macon, (Georgia) social club, attacking the ordinance of that city prohibiting the locker clubs.

SHERMAN ANSWERS CAMPAIGN CANARD

Business Deal in Question Did Not Affect Federal Land and Was Never Put Into Effect.

UTICA, Oct. 26.—Before leaving here tonight to resume his speaking tour through the state, James S. Sherman, Republican vice presidential candidate, gave out a statement dealing with the charges made public today to the effect that Mr. Sherman had been involved in an attempted deal in government lands in New Mexico with Edmund Burke and others, the company which they had formed seeking to obtain possession through sharp practice at a low figure of millions of acres of valuable timber. Mr. Sherman's statement follows:

"My attention has been called to a sensational article in today's New York World making charges against me in connection with the New Mexico Timber and Development company, a corporation which has not been in existence for years. A careful reading shows that the charges, so far as I am concerned, have no substance whatever and as to my connection with the enterprise the fullest possible investigation and publicity are courted.

"The fact about it briefly is that some years since Mr. Burke presented a proposition involving the purchase of timber lands in New Mexico, which were not United States property and the construction of a railroad. There were ten gentlemen, I think, who gave $600 each to form a company and investigate the project. Men were employed to inspect the property. Some of us inspected the lands so that there was no secret about it, and, on the other hand, the local papers had much to say of it at the time.

"After looking into the matter carefully and at length, we decided that the lands available would not yield a profit on the railroad construction and dropped it. The company dissolved, about half the sum invested was paid back to each of us and our prospective connection with the enterprise was ended.

"Not one foot or one dollar's worth of United States property was concerned with it in any way. There was no secret about it, and no need for any. I never urged the passage of any such bill as is referred to and the World article does not say that I did. What Mr. Burke or anyone else did before or after our investigation of the proposition I do not know, and if he or anybody else attempted any bribery business, it was without the knowledge, consent or approval of myself or any of my assistants in the investigation.

"My secretary acknowledged the receipt of Mr. Burke's letter of August 9th, signing my name, as he had the right to do in my absence. He showed me Mr. Burke's letter on my return and knowing there was nothing in the transaction on my part to apologize for, I paid no attention to it.

"The whole affair was purely a legitimate private enterprise which, as business men, we investigated and turned down half a dozen years ago.

"It may be of interest in this connection to say that later Burke wrote me, saying he was being pressed to make statements which would be calculated to injure me and asked me to see him in Chicago on a date when I was billed to speak there. That letter was not even acknowledged, because I had nothing to pay or promise to prevent the disclosure of any public or private act of mine. If he has found a market for the wares, the incident must go along with what I suppose is to be expected in the last week of the campaign."

IS CAVIARE FISH OR SHOULD IT BE EGGS?

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Importers of caviare have brought another test case before the board of general appraisers in an effort to finally decide the status of that article under the customs laws. A recent case was decided against the importers, who claimed that the authorities were in error in listing caviare as fish. They claimed that caviare, while the eggs of sturgeon, was no more fish than hens' eggs are poultry.

Wright Going Home to Vote.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Orville Wright, the aeronaut, will leave Fort Myer hospital for his home at Dayton, Ohio, on Saturday if his condition continues to improve. His sister, Miss Catherine Wright, who has nursed him at the army hospital, will accompany him. Wright desires to vote, even though it may be necessary to carry him to the polls.

BRYAN MAKES GREATEST EFFORT

The Madison Square Garden Speech Intended as Climax of the Democratic Campaign

GREAT AUDIENCE HEARS NEBRASKA CANDIDATE

Repeats Charge That Taft Is Not Friend of Labor and Says He Once Approved of Reduction in Railway Wages

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—At the close of a trying day—a day of outdoor speaking in a drenching rain, of fast flying trips by auto and special train, of receptions and formal dinners, and of three big evening meetings in different sections of the city, W. J. Bryan addressed in Madison Square Garden tonight the most notable gathering of his three campaigns. The great oval amphitheater of the garden held an immense throng, limited only by its vast capacity. From platform to the farthermost reaches of the loftiest of the four encircling galleries there was no vacant place. The police early in the evening cut off all access to the building, with a disappointed waiting line blocks in length.

Notable as it was in the size and enthusiasm of its great crowd, the meeting took superior rank in the distinguished personnel of its speakers and party leaders who sat with Bryan upon the platform and cheered his every sentiment.

It was 10:15 o'clock when Bryan finally reached the garden. His coming was heralded by eager outposts at the door and the first cry of "Bryan" brought all to their feet in one rising wave of humanity. A flag was in the hands of every person in the vast audience and the scene as the presidential candidate made his way through the aisles to the stage was strikingly a repetition of the demonstration at Denver when Mr. Bryan was nominated. The waving of the flags in a rippling sea of color, the cheering and the music lasted fourteen minutes before Mr. Bryan with uplifted hands finally secured the silence that permitted him to proceed.

Mr. Bryan appeared tired and worn when he began to talk, but as he proceeded the cheers of his hearers seemed to imbue him with new strength and he spoke with all his characteristic vigor. His voice, clear and resonant as a bell, filled the big garden to its farther corners.

Dash to Paterson.

The candidate began his long day with a dash through mud and rain to Paterson, N. J., in an automobile. He spoke in a downpour for twenty minutes and, like the thousands in his audience, was drenched to the skin. Returning to the city he was the guest at a reception of the Women's Democratic Club at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, where two impulsive ladies threw their arms about Mr. Bryan and kissed him. Next he made a flying trip through Westchester county, speaking at Yonkers, White Plains, Port Chester, New Rochelle and Mount Vernon.

Returning to New York Bryan was the guest of honor at a reception and dinner at the Democratic Club. Then began his evening tour, which took him first before an outdoor gathering in Hamilton Fish park before a crowd that filled Cooper Union and to the Palm Garden at 58th street and Third avenue. It was from the Palm Garden that the candidate went direct to Madison Square Garden.

Speech at the Garden.

In his Garden speech, Bryan devoted a large part of his time to labor topics. The enthusiasm reached its height when he predicted that, whether the Democratic party won or lost, its policy of publicity of contributions would become the law of the land.

Bryan was given another ovation when he concluded at 11:55 o'clock. He had spoken several times of the lateness of the hour but the crowd called to him to "go on." The demonstrations of applause and cheering seemed to increase in spontaneity and volume rather than diminish as the midnight hour approached.

Hours before the doors of the big auditorium swung open, the crowd clamored for admittance. Inspector Cortright with several hundred police under his command, formed a cordon around the building and only ticket holders were permitted to pass this line.

J. Sargent Cram of Tammany hall opened the meeting with the nomination for chairman of former Judge D. Cady Herrick, who was chosen. Judge Herrick attacked the policies of President Roosevelt, which he said would be perpetuated should Mr. Taft be elected.

"The election of Mr. Bryan, he said, means a cessation of these policies."

The mention of Mr. Bryan's name called forth prolonged cheering and presaged the demonstration that was to come.

Governor Francis, who was secretary of the interior in Mr. Cleveland's cabinet, referred to the fact that the Democracy was united this year and said it was time there was a change in the administration of federal affairs.

Chanler is Cheered.

The arrival of Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, Democratic candidate for governor of New York, provoked a great demonstration. He told briefly of his tours through the state and declared that the sentiment everywhere encountered was not only in favor of the state ticket but for the entire Democratic state ticket from Bryan down.

Governor Hoke Smith "as a Cleveland Democrat" eulogized Mr. Bryan, and said he resented the idea of anyone attempting to compare the Republican candidate "with that estimable, Christian gentleman, [illegible]

SWEET WINE LEGISLATION

History of the Law Given By Congressman Needham.

To Refute an Absurd Claim as to Low Price of Grapes for Wine Making.

In the Independent of Stockton appeared on Saturday morning a statement over the signature of Congressman J. C. Needham, giving the history of the sweet wine bill. The statement was in reply to a publication made in the Mail on Tuesday attempting to hold him in a measure responsible for the prevailing low price of wine grapes. Mr. Needham's statement is as follows:

"It hardly seems necessary to answer the charge contained in the article of the Mail, it is so absurd and unreasonable. But for fear that some may be misled, I am pleased to submit the following history of the origin and scope of the legislation which is contained in the act of Congress approved June 7, 1906, amending our sweet wine laws.

"During the sweet wine season of 1905, and at its very height, the commissioner of internal revenue issued regulations so drastic that the wineries throughout the state producing sweet wine were closed down. Although the wineries were carrying on the manufacture of wine in the same manner that they had been for years, nevertheless the commissioner of the internal revenue held that they were violating the law, more especially in two important particulars. First, in the use of water, and second, by the maintenance on the winery premises of a distillery for the manufacture of wine spirits or grape brandy.

"When the commissioner, however, realized that his ruling would entirely stop the manufacture of wine for that season, he agreed to suspend the ruling and permit the wineries to continue as they had heretofore, upon the promise by the California delegation that at the next session of Congress an attempt would be made in good faith to amend the law so as to make it clear and definite.

"In accordance with this agreement, at the next session of Congress the wine interests of this state were represented by Mr. Percy T. Morgan, who came to Washington to confer with our delegation in regard to a law upon this question.

"On account of the opposition of Eastern wine makers to any change in the law which would curtail and restrict their supposed right to make wine out of 'any old thing,' it was at once seen that in order to pass a law upon the question at all, it would be absolutely necessary for those representing the government and those representing the sweet wine interests to mutually agree upon the form of the proposed amendments.

"The preparation of these amendments, being a highly technical task, was left entirely to the legal representatives of the government in the internal revenue office and Mr. Morgan, representing the sweet wine interests. They were days and weeks in the preparation of the amendments. In the task of agreeing upon the wording of the amendments, neither myself nor any member of the California delegation had any part. When finally the proposed law was agreed upon, on account of my position on the committee having jurisdiction, I undertook to introduce and to pass the bill through the House of Representatives, and this was done in the manner detailed in the article in the Mail. It is true that the bill was carefully drawn, just as I stated in my speech when I had charge of the bill. It was drawn with the very greatest of care, as stated above; weeks, and I think perhaps nearly two months, were given to the preparation of the bill.

"It is perfectly absurd, unfair and unjust for any one to claim that I am responsible for any holding which may be made by the chief of this bureau as to the meaning of any portion of the law. Technically speaking, of course every legislator who fathers a bill to a certain extent is responsible for its wording and effect. But in reality, under the actual practice, such is not properly the case. It would be just as logical to hold President Roosevelt responsible for the position of the Supreme court holding unconstitutional the "commodities clause" of the rate bill, as it is for the Mail to hold me responsible for the order of the commissioner of internal revenue. Furthermore, I contend that the ruling of the commissioner will not stand if tested in court, and such is also the strenuous contention of those representing the sweet wine interests.

"There is one phase of the efforts to obtain this legislation which I notice that the Mail carefully avoids dwelling upon; and which phase has an important political bearing in this campaign. That is, that the opposition to the bill, both in committee and on the floor of the house, was led by Champ Clark of Missouri. Mr. Clark is the special champion of the spurious wine makers of the East. This interest is large in his district and he is committed to their cause. Mr. Clark, if the next House of Representatives is Democratic, will be the next speaker of that body, and my opponent, if elected, will, if he enters the Democratic caucus and supports the man who will receive the vote of that body for speaker of the next House, vote for Mr. Clark.

"In the event that it shall be necessary to procure supplemental legislation to cure the effect of the decision in question, I desire to submit to the voters this question: In what position would my opponent be, if elected, to render any efficient service in this regard?

"Let the issue be made, and let the voters determine for themselves where their interests lie in this and all other questions.

"I regret more than I can tell that I fear that I will be unable to meet a San Joaquin county audience personally to discuss this matter from the platform. Nothing would please me better than to be able to discuss before the voters of Stockton and San Joaquin county the various charges of the Mail, and I may yet conclude, because of the very great pleasure it would give me to meet these criticisms, to disobey the orders of the doctors and do so.

"J. C. NEEDHAM."

THE FOUNDER OF INDIGESTION.

The founder of indigestion was Noah; he forgot to leave the pigs ashore. From the hog comes lard; from lard, indigestion. The moment you put lard-cooked food into your stomach, you send a pressing invitation for dyspepsia to come and take possession.

You don't need to use lard, though, unless you want to; there is a cooking fat that makes food any stomach can easily digest. It is COTTOLENE; no hog fat—just pure vegetable oil, nutritious, wholesome; makes flaky pie crust, crisp doughnuts, light, rich rolls and cake—in fact, all the things you like, but cannot eat perhaps, because they do not "agree."

COTTOLENE has been well named "the perfect shortening."

HIP, HIP, HOORAY FOR PRETTIEST GIRL

Rose Leslie Has Eve All Faded, Says Anna Held.

Shows Are Booked for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday Nights.

A distinguished cast supports Rice and Cady, the comedy stars in "Hip, Hip, Hooray," which comes to the Barton tomorrow night after a year's run at Weber's Broadway Music hall. Maude LeRoy, last season played a leading role in Geo. M. Cohan's "Talk of New York;" May Phelps, prima donna, starred in "Bob White" and was featured in "The Gingerbread Man." Rose Leslie is pronounced by Anna Held to be the prettiest show girl in the world. Mazie Trumbull has danced all over America and the Continent and ranks with Gonee and Dazie. Harry Shunk has a negro role and has been for years the leading comedian with Al. G. Fields' minstrels; Thos. Lynch, the baritone, is from Fritzi Scheff's company; Wellington Cross, juvenile, was featured in the "Top o' The World" and several of Geo. M. Cohan's productions. The company of sixty people includes one of the prettiest choruses ever sent on the road and a powerful cast in general. In staging "Hip, Hip, Hooray" no expense has been spared. All the gowns were made in Paris. The production comes here just as it was seen at Weber's Music hall. The scenes are laid at a famous university and are crowded with color; numerous song hits are scattered through the piece, and the show goes with a dash and vigor that makes it irresistible.

"A Knight for a Day."

For the first time in this section of the country, theatergoers will have an opportunity to see and hear the sparkling musical comedy success, "A Knight for a Day," which delighted the patrons of Whitney's Opera house, Chicago, for so long a period of time. The piece is the joint work of Messrs. Smith and Hubbell, and has been declared by many critics to be the best musical comedy that has been produced in years. Its plot is cohesive and consistent. The music is tuneful and snappy and delightful in every particular. The song hit of the piece is "Because I'm Married." There is a solo duet "Life is a See-Saw," prettily enacted with real see-saws, that is always greatly appreciated by the audience. Another song that strikes the popular fancy and calls forth much applause is "Whistle as You Walk Out." The coming production is under the management of H. H. Frazee, its original production in Chicago, and it is said that he has spared no expense in giving it a sumptuous stage equipment. The principals in the cast are all well-known favorites in the realm of comic opera, and with the highest reputations to sustain may be expected to give this piece a fine presentation. A delightful feature is the American Beauty chorus, which adds in great measure to the melody and attractiveness of the entertainment. Among the most prominent in the cast may be mentioned Bobby Barry and Elsie Herbert. "A Knight for a Day" will be seen next Thursday evening at the Barton. The seat sale opens this morning at 9 o'clock.

"The Four Corners of the Earth."

When Klimt & Gazzolo first bought the new melodramatic play called "The Four Corners of the Earth," it was thought the production would be too heavy to transport, as the scenic, mechanical and electrical effects were simply immense. This was latterly overcome, however, and the big melodrama is so constructed that it can be put on in detail. The story of "The Four Corners of the Earth" is decidedly exciting and takes one around the world in a very sensational race. This new theatrical offering is exploited by the well known theatrical managers, Klimt & Gazzolo, which is a guarantee of its worth. An extraordinary large company is required for this production and the organization contains a number of names that guarantee performances of exceptional excellence. The scenery and accessories which have been much admired en-tour, will be brought here in their entirety. "The Four Corners of the Earth" comes to the Barton next Friday evening, October 30th. The seat sale opens tomorrow morning, prices 25c, 50c and 75c.

CONTRACTORS LOSE ON JOB

Turpin Sentenced to Life Incarceration for Murder.

Overheard Verbal Promise Holds Bankrupt to Liability on His Note.

Judgment for the plaintiff was awarded yesterday in the long pending suit of D. C. McLaughlin and other property holders against F. Knobloch and his son-in-law doing business under the name of the Fresno Artificial Stone company. The judgment is to declare void the assessment made in April, 1907, for the laying of the concrete sidewalk on Blackstone avenue. The assessment was invalidated because the work in fact done was not performed under the particular assessment. The decision is under the strict reading of the Vrooman law, and yet while giving fullest protection to the property owners the sidewalk on the avenue presents the spectacle of material put down and labor done by the contractors for which they cannot collect, while the property owners have the benefit and enjoyment of the improvement which has cost them only the court and attorney fees for the litigation.

To Prison for Life.

Edward Turpin found guilty of murder in the first degree with the punishment fixed by the jury at life imprisonment had sentence pronounced against him yesterday by Judge Austin, San Quentin penitentiary being named as the place of incarceration. The new trial sought on the grounds that the evidence did not show premeditation and because of alleged misinstructions of the law was denied. Turpin had not a word to say why the sentence should not be pronounced. Execution of sentence was stayed for 10 days, not unlikely for an appeal to the Supreme court. Turpin shot and killed Frederick Roetzscher, a young German farmer, on a farm near Fowler.

Bound by His Promise.

Jacob Heckenberry was given judgment on appeal yesterday in his suit against G. H. and Julia Jovovich on a note for $112 dated July 7, 1905, and on which $86 had been paid. Jovavich was a restaurant man who went through insolvency and thus sought to relieve himself of debts. The judgment was on an oral admission of the deft after the bankruptcy adjudication and a definite promise to pay at a given time. This evidence was corroborated by one who was a listener in Heckenberry's office when the arrangement was made concerning this debt contracted before the insolvency. In the lower court judgment was for the defendant.

Deserted for Goldfield.

Publication of summons has been ordered in the desertion and failure to provide divorce case of Mabel Allen against Lee J. Allen, complaint filed in July last. Up to June 25th, 1907, he was a resident here and on that day deserted and she has not seen him since. He was seen in Los Angeles about one year ago stating he was on his way to Goldfield, Nev., to engage in business and later it was learned that he was there with the Montezuma Mining company. The mother, who lives at Bakersfield, and the sister-in-Oakland, do not know of his whereabouts. Allen was employed by the S. P. and the Santa Fe at various times.

All Want to Widow.

To Susie Payne in her right as the widow and the other half of the estate of Bertram D. Payne having been assigned to her by the children heirs, distribution has been ordered by Judge Austin of $4761.50, cash, a $250 note of M. D. Neff, a $525 note of Johnson & Dean besides personal property making a total value of $5536.56. The saw mill and fixtures and timber land lease hold were sold for $1000 to J. P. Beguhl and the timber, wagons and horses for $880.

Weir Wants Jury Trial.

Judge Church ordered a special venire for twenty talesmen from which to secure a jury for the trial on the 28th of the case of J. O. Traber vs. W. J. Weir to recover attorney fee and shorthand reporter charges in litigation growing out of the obstruction of a public roadway in Eggers colony. In that case judgment went against Weir and yesterday he appealed.

Went to the Children.

A residue of $1169.98 cash and the south half of the southeast quarter, the south half of the north half of the southeast quarter and five acres off the south side of the north half of the southeast quarter of 31-14-23 have been distributed under the terms of the will in the estate of Anna W. Ward to two minor children, Herman Clinton and Myrtle Eva McCray, and $1 to the husband, Woodford A. Ward.

Trust Is Terminated.

Julius and Henry Weilheimer as trustees in the estate of Aaron Weilheimer for the daughter, Lillian Fleisig, have been discharged from the trust. She has become of age and has married terminating the trust that was to continue until she should be 21 years of age.

Costings Estate Appraised.

The estate of William A. Ahern has been appraised at $8,056.96 of which $2311.06 is in eight pieces of realty in Fresno and San Benito counties, $5,400 in the value of about 400 head of cattle at $13.50 per head, and $270 in nine head of horses.

Stipulated Dismissal.

The action of the Selma Canning company against A. A. Courtenay has been dismissed without costs to either, the demand sued on having been paid and discharged.

H. D. Brooks has been appointed administrator of the estate of his father George W. Brooks under a $20,000 bond.

AUTO SOMERSAULT ACT BY CARRIER

Machine Runs Off Bridge and Turns Completely Over in Mid Air.

Wig Jack, a paper carrier on the Republican, figured in a sensational auto somersault act near Selma early yesterday morning. Jack did the trick with a neatness which would have made the girl in Barnum & Bailey's circus exceedingly envious. The only regrettable thing about the whole affair was that there was no audience. Jack probably thought it would be best to do the trick alone first before venturing before the public.

From all accounts, however, the sensational act was not contemplated and the carrier has expressed a wish never to try it again. He was proceeding along the road from Selma to Kingsburg in a Rambler.

As he neared the old Centerville and Kingsburg ditch on the outskirts of the town, the steering gear stuck and the car ran off the structure. It turned a complete somersault in mid air and alighted right side up.

Jack was thrown out but escaped serious injury and the machine was only slightly scratched. In fact the machine suffered so little damage that Jack was forced to run to it and stop the engine as it was still going.

DR. BURNS DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Former Selma Physician Passes Away at His Home in San Jose.

Word was received here yesterday of the death in San Jose early yesterday morning of Dr. John Franklin Burns, brother of Attorney James A. Burns and Harvey Burns of this city. Death was due to Bright's disease. Dr. Burns was very well known in this county, having practiced in Selma for many years previous to 1895, when he removed to San Jose. Dr. Burns had been in poor health for a number of years and his last illness was of two months' duration. While practicing in Selma Dr. Burns was poisoned by reason of a mistake in a prescription and this was the beginning of his long illness.

Dr. Burns was a native of Illinois, and would have been 51 years of age on next Christmas day. His wife survives him.

THIRTY DAYS IN JAIL FOR STRIKING A WOMAN

After being found guilty by the court on a charge of battery, alleged to have been committed Friday night last on the person of Miss Mabel Spencer, a young fellow who gave his name as Charles Sanson was yesterday sentenced to thirty days in the county jail by Judge Graham. The defendant was not represented by counsel and the duration of the trail was brief, only a few witnesses for both sides being examined. Sanson claimed that he struck the woman in self-defense, while several women bore out the statements of Miss Spencer that the accused slapped her face and then struck her with his fists. The affair was the culmination of a drunken brawl in the redlight district.

REDUCTION IN GRAZING RATES

For Sheep That Are Out in Western National Forests.

In Most Cases Revised Fees Mean a Charge Less of a Cent Per Head.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Following out a statement made one year ago at the meeting of the National Wool Growers' association in Salt Lake City, Gifford Pinchot, forester, and A. F. Potter, assistant in charge of the branch of grazing in the United States forest service, have announced a reduction of 10 to 15 per cent in the rates for sheep grazing on the national forests of the West. This general reduction in the schedule of grazing rates will take effect for the coming season of 1909.

The changes in market conditions which have made the sheep business less profitable this year, especially the greatly reduced prices offered for Wool and the depreciation in the value of mutton, make the announcement of great interest not only to those who are interested in the sheep business but to the men of every allied industry. In 1907, when the promises for a reduced schedule were made, it was with the understanding between the stockmen and the forest service that the grazing rates would not be changed for minor fluctuations in the market which would naturally occur from year to year, but would apply only in case of radical or unusual changes.

The new schedule does not affect the cases where the minimum charge of 5 cents per head has already been allowed or a specially low rate has been fixed on account of some special condition. In most cases the revised fees will mean a reduction of about 1 per cent per head.

In fixing the rates for grazing by different kinds of stock, the local conditions, the effect of grazing by different kinds of stock on forest growth, the demand for the use of range by owners of different kinds of stock, the needs of the homesteader, and the profits of the business have been taken into consideration.

SNOW BROTHERS ARE HELD TO ANSWER

Assistant District Attorney McCormick returned yesterday from Pine Ridge, where after an examination Polk and Greer Snow were held to answer for a murderous assault made on the 12th on the engineer at Shattuck's saw mill. On the day in question the engineer had twice let the steam in the boiler run down, claiming that it was on account of the green wood that was given him for fuel. Greer, who is the boss in the absence of Shattuck, intimated in reproving the engineer that if he let booze alone the steam pressure would not be lacking. The complainant denied the impeachment and in the passing of words the expression "liar" was employed, and the Snow brothers being Alabamans, this meant fight. Greer first armed himself with a board but threw this away for a heavy scantling which was used as a furnace poker. The engineer was belabored but disarmed his assailant, who then armed himself with two monkey wrenches and advanced menacingly but threw one of the wrenches away. Polk picked up this discarded weapon, and while the combatants were belaboring themselves and were clinched with both holding on to the wrench, Polk interfered and with the other wrench brought things to a climax by knocking the engineer on the head, resulting in the arrest and the examination.

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts, are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale, by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

Porch Glasses

Did you ever sit on the porch and read with glasses that blurred all things across the street, and that had to be removed when you wanted to see a passing vehicle or person?

Did you not feel the inadequacy of the glasses which thus permitted you to see close objects, but at the same time deprived you of the power to see faraway ones? Did you not wish for a glass which would permit you to see near and distant objects at the same time?

Investigate the Kryptok. Here you will find a glass with which you can sit on the porch, see clearly up and down the street, and read books or papers at the same time. The Kryptok is a bifocal, but not the least like the old-style bifocal. No conspicuous lines mar its surface; no ugly pieces are pasted to it. We make the genuine article here.

MAKES ASTONISHING CURES

Mi-o-na Tablets Cure Dyspepsia by Promptly Removing the Cause, or Money Back.

Mi-o-na is a scientific and effective remedy for the permanent cure of indigestion.

Food is digested in the stomach by means of a churning movement of the walls of the stomach, which thoroughly mixes the food with the gastric or stomach juices.

If the muscular walls are flabby and lack tone or energy, the stomach cannot churn the food properly, and the digestive juices are not properly mixed with the food.

This causes indigestion. The common symptoms are: weight and fullness after meals, coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, discharges of wind from the mouth, and belching of sour material.

—Dyspepsia cannot be cured by taking a digestor, such as pepsin, because pepsin simply digests your food artificially, and not all of the food either, for it has no effect at all on starchy food, such as potatoes, rice, oatmeal, bread, etc.

There is just one way to cure dyspepsia and stomach disorders, trivial or serious, and that is to tone up and put energy into the stomach walls, so that they will be able to properly mix or churn the food.

Mi-o-na tones the stomach, builds healthful strength and energy into the stomach. They quickly arouse the stomach from its inaction, and in a short time it is able to do its work properly.

And bear in mind that when the stomach is in good condition, constipation disappears, also nervousness, drowsiness, night sweats, heartburn, etc.

The San Joaquin Drug Co. sells Mi-o-na tablets under a rigid guarantee to do all that is claimed for them, or money back.

Remains of N. W. Hammond Are Interred By Woodmen of the World.

HANFORD, Oct. 26.—Democrats from this city attended a rally held in Corcoran this evening. The principal speakers were W. J. Webber, candidate for the assembly from this district. Variety and spice was given to the program by musical selections by the well known local comedian, "Jack" Monroe.

A. B. Crowell is recovering from a recent stroke of paralysis, and is able to walk about in the house.

Supervisor A. F. Smith is seriously ill with gastritis at his home in this city. His condition is improved today.

Peter Serafin and Brigada Marin were united in marriage by Justice J. W. Ferguson in this city today.

Eldin O. Walsh, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Walsh who was injured at Walsh's mills in the mountains near Shaver Sunday, was brought back to Fresno last night.

Walsh was seriously injured by a rolling log Sunday morning about 11 o'clock and it was thought at first that the injuries would prove fatal. His mother and Dr. Thorne went at once to the scene in an automobile and returned with the injured man last night for treatment.

COURTMARTIAL READY TO TRY LIEUT. DODD

MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD, Cal., Oct. 26.—The naval court martial recently appointed to try Lieutenant Edwin H. Dodd, commanding officer of the submarine boats at Mare Island, charged with neglect of duty in connection with the explosion of seventy-five gallons of gasoline and the resulting fire on September 17th, which cost the lives of Chief Machinist T. G. May and Paul Martin, a Vallejo boy, convened today. Captain John B. Milton presided and Lieutenant Edward E. Spafford acted as judge advocate. The accused officer entered a plea of not guilty.

Paymaster P. J. Willet, who had been selected by Lieutenant Dodd as his counsel, received orders on Saturday detaching him from the navy yard and ordering him to proceed immediately to San Diego to join the Solace. Lieutenant Dodd at once telegraphed to the navy department asking that the detachment of Paymaster Willet be postponed until after the conclusion of the court martial. If a satisfactory reply is not received today, Lieutenant Dodd will ask the adjournment of the court until he can procure other counsel. His line of defense will be that it was impossible to take the submarine boats Pike and Grampus into the Middle channel to discharge their gasoline, as the board of inquiry contended, as the wires used in charging their batteries had been disconnected by the yard officials. He will also contend that the engines were not in condition to permit the boats leaving the quay wall under their own steam.

SECOND TRIAL OF MAN FOR THE SLOUGH MURDER

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The second trial of Theodore Whitmore began in Jersey City this morning, when the attorneys undertook the task of selecting jurors to try Whitmore on a charge of murdering his wife and throwing her body into Lampblack swamp on Christmas eve last year. On the first trial the jury disagreed, but this time the state thinks its case is stronger, as two women who lived in the same house with the Whitmores in Brooklyn and who disappeared immediately after Mrs. Whitmore was killed, have been found and it is said that both will testify that they saw Whitmore and his wife leave the house on Christmas eve and later saw Whitmore return alone. Whitmore declares that he did not see his wife on the night of the murder.

THREE CHILDREN ARE POISONED BY MILK

Conference of Doctors Holds Out No Hope for Twins.

John Bedigrew for a Nameless Crime Sentenced to Imprisonment for Life.

VISALIA, Oct. 26.—Three children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steel of this city are ill with ptomaine poisoning. The lives of the two youngest—twins, a boy and a girl, aged 5 months—are despaired of. The other child, a boy, was taken ill about two weeks ago and the twins ten days later. It is believed their illness is due to drinking condensed milk. A conference of physicians was held today and practically no hope is held out for either of the twins, although the elder boy may recover. The eldest of four children, a girl, has been visiting in the country for several weeks and has not been ill.

John Bedigrew, convicted of a crime upon his young daughter, was this morning sentenced by Judge Wallace to life imprisonment in Folsom penitentiary. He had evidently been expecting this, as he evinced no surprise. It is the same sentence that was meted out to J. M. Reed a few weeks ago for the same offense, so that the action of the court was foreshadowed.

This afternoon Bedigrew's aged mother visited the jail to say final farewell to him and the parting was an affecting one. Both realized that it would be the last time they would ever see each other. Bedigrew will be taken tomorrow to commence the serving of his sentence.

James Hipner was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Douglass and Officer Stewart at the Lamb ranch, several miles northwest of this city, on complaint of residents of that section. Hipner was crazy drunk and was firing his revolver promiscuously. He had exhausted his ammunition by the time the officers arrived and was found asleep in a ditch. No damage resulted.

Messrs. Whitmore and Camp, business managers of the Visalia and Corcoran beet sugar factories respectively, and Mr. Coffin, a book-keeper at the former plant, have instituted a moving picture theater at Selma. Others will be opened in other towns in the valley if the Selma venture proves a success. Mr. Coffin has charge of the place.

Lee V. Wood, Santa Fe agent at Cutler, and Miss Adelia Bernhard of this city were wedded yesterday evening at the home of the bride's mother, on South Church street. Both are well known in Visalia, the bride being a daughter of Dr. C. E. Bernhard, who died some time ago. The couple will make their home at Cutler.

J. B. A. Warnes and Miss Lulu Ayers, both of Lindsay, were wedded at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon at the parsonage of the First M. E. church, South, Rev. W. A. Booher, officiating. The parents of the bride were in attendance. They will make their home at Lindsay.

A fellow named Jones, who was taken to the hospital several days ago, after being found in a box-car in an unconscious condition, has again relapsed into a state of profound stupor after being aroused sufficiently to tell his story and may die. Jones said he had eaten Chinese drugs. It is believed he had more concealed about his person and took another dose while on his cot. He said he took the Chinese "dope" to break away from the use of the hypodermic needle.

HAINS WILL PLEAD TEMPORARY INSANITY

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Temporary insanity will be the defense of Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., U. S. A., who killed William E. Annis at the Bayside Yacht club landing last August.

In the supreme court at Flushing, L. I., today, Judge Garretson overruled the demurrer entered by counsel for the defense in the case of T. Jenkins Hains, brother of the captain, which set up the claim that the indictment was defective in that it charged Jenkins Hains as both principal and accessory before the fact. Jenkins Hains was then called to the bar and plead to the indictment not guilty.

John F. McIntyre of counsel for the defense entered a plea of not guilty for Capt. Hains on the ground that at the time of the killing of Annis Capt. Hains was insane.

District Attorney Darrin asked that the court fix a date for the trial. This Judge Garretson said he preferred to leave to the judge who would preside at the November term of court.

MILLION DOLLAR WILL IS SAID TO BE FORGED

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Declaring the signature in a will disposing of about $1,000,000 a forgery, the will being that of Ambrose Burbank, who died in 1904, Dr. Albert H. Hamilton of Auburn, N. Y., a hand-writing expert, created a sensation in the suit against Caleb H. Burbank, a nephew of the testator, during the trial in the United States circuit court here today.

The nephew is executor of the estate and was named residuary legatee in addition to receiving a direct bequest of $600,000. His counsel, after eliciting a statement that Ambrose Burbank had been in a habit of using both hands in writing presented the will to the witness and asked with which hand the signature on it had been written.

"With neither of Mr. Burbank's," was his reply. "That signature is a forgery."

LOT OF ASSESSMENT WORK IS BEING PLANNED

Much Surveying Under Way South of Coalinga.

Government Men Have Extended Possible Oil Area By Five Miles.

COALINGA, Oct. 25.—There is being planned a lot of assessment work south of town to be done this fall. Many parties are now busy surveying the sections in which they are interested, with a view of making substantial development work in the shape of new buildings. Soon after election this work will be commenced with an earnest desire to have it in proper shape to meet the critical eye of the government men who are now investigating for the general land office, and whose efforts have extended to oil zone from one mile to five miles east of the line laid down by the geological survey, under Ralph Arnold. There appears to be a disposition on the part of the general land office to allow the oil miner sufficient time to develop enough of the land within the supposed oil zone to prove its mineral quality. With this stimulus the operator has taken new heart and has entered into the game with refreshed energy.

There have been several parties in town the past week looking up agricultural land with a view of cultivating same to meet the growing market of this town and field. A truck garden, run by an experienced man, would pay well; there is an enormous amount of vegetables shipped into this field daily, and yet the town is short of a variety of vegetables. The new hotel will use considerable, and the many eating houses about town, say nothing of the demand from this field, would furnish a splendid market for the product of a good truck garden.

Among the many developments about town is the drug store of W. W. Ayers, the interior of which is much improved, to better accommodate the coming holiday trade. The merchants are receiving some of the early consignment of goods for the Christmas trade, which promises well in this little city. "One of the best towns in California," says a traveling man. Truly a growing town has the pulse of generosity, a freedom that comes with well paid industry.

The city trustees met last week to consider the matter of sewering the city. Mr. Weaves, city engineer of Visalia, has been employed to make an estimate upon the cost of the proposed sewer, to enable the trustees to determine the amount necessary to bond the city for this much needed improvement. Mr. Weaver was requested to report at a meeting to be held November 2d next.

The British Consolidated Oil Corporation, Limited, has taken over the P. M. D. & O. lease, section 12-20-14; the California Monarch Oil Company, section 26-19-15, and the California Diamond, section 12-19-15. The new company has also acquired considerable holdings in the Express Oil Company, south of Coalinga, with a view of entering that field.

The street carnival has been here, one of the passing signs of the pioneer days, which in a few years will be a thing of the past, and then a boon to every community that has passed through the ordeal, more a nuisance to every community than an entertainment.

The Peerless Consolidated Oil Company, section 28-18-15, has increased its boiler plant, having removed the boiler from section 10-20-15. The hole is going nicely with the formation favorable.

There is a wonderful amount of lumber, mostly house material, going out to the field every day for the further development of numerous leases, making more comfortable quarters for the men for the coming winter.

The D. K. Oil Company, section 2-19-15, is 2,225 feet deep with 10-inch casing in well No. 3. Well No. 1 is making about 1,000 barrels per day. E. H. Pauson, field manager, reports that the rig for well No. 4 will soon be on the ground.

John J. Meyer and Charles F. Humphrey spent several days of last week in the field, looking over their many interests about the field. Both gentlemen expressed themselves as well satisfied with the development work going on about town and field.

W. M. Johnson has added a third story to the building just west of the Eagle store. This will be used as a lodging house to meet the demand for beds by men from the field.

The Kern Trading and Oil Company, section 35-19-15, is running three string sof tools. Well on location No. 17 offsets the W. K. Oil Company's well No. 1. Well on location No. 1 offsets the California Oilfields, Limited, well on section 34.

The Camwell Oil Company, section 22-19-15, is 750 feet deep on well No. 4 with 12½-inch casing; is 810 feet deep in well No. 5 with 12½-inch casing.

The British Consolidated Oil Corporation, Limited, section 26-19-15, is 1,740 feet deep in well No. 2 with 10-inch casing and going nicely.

The Twenty-two Oil Company, section 22-19-15, is 800 feet deep with 12½-inch casing, well free, going nicely.

The Kern Trading and Oil Company is drilling the west line of section 13-20-14.

The Lorene Oil Company, section 12-19-15, is 2,680 feet deep in well No. 1, and are in the red rock, going nicely.

Charles Wilcox, section 2-19-15, is 1,550 feet deep with 10-inch casing.

The Octoro Oil Company (Merced lease) section 22-19-15, is 850 feet deep in well No. 1 with 13½-inch casing.

The Peerless Oil Company, section 22-19-15, are riging up on well No. 14.

NEW LEASE OF LIFE FOR CORPORATIONS

Many Objections to Senate Amendment No. 31 Are Pointed Out By E. F. Bernhard.

Editor Republican: It appears to me that Senate Constitutional amendment No. 31 authorizing corporations by voluntary action upon their part to increase their period of existence for 50 years would, if adopted, be a very vicious law and against the welfare of the people in general.

If this amendment should be adopted the state would practically lose control over certain corporations.

For instance, what might be considered a proper business today for permitting a corporation to be organized for, might be very objectionable a few years hence and laws might then be passed prohibiting new corporations to be organized for such purpose. Yet, while new corporations could not be organized for a particular purpose an old one which ordinarily would be compelled to retire and wind up its affairs or reorganize under the laws then existing, could continue its existence for 50 years by virtue of this constitutional amendment.

Suppose a bank should be organized today to do a commercial and a savings bank business (and of which there are quite a number in this state) and a short time in the future a law should be enacted forbidding the two lines of business to be conducted by one corporation, under this amendment the present corporations could, when their charters expire extend their existence for 50 years and continue in the same lines of business.

Or, as this is "an age of trusts," and everybody—that is, "everybody outside of them"—is trying to "bust the trusts" this amendment if passed might result in making them "unbustible."

As the law now stands a corporation may own the capital stock of another corporation, forming "a wheel within a wheel." In the near future there will no doubt be legislation limiting such holdings to particular corporations for a limited period only, and possibly, to prohibit such holdings entirely a corporation organized now with a clause in its charter making the holding of such stock a part of its business could under this amendment when its charter expires voluntarily extend its existence for 50 years and continue in the same business. If this amendment was not adopted it would be compelled to wind up its affairs and retire from business.

The particular "bug" that this proposed amendment was drawn to cover I have not discovered, but for the reasons mentioned and many others that could be mentioned it should not be overlooked and given a "hard jolt."

E. F. BERNHARD.

HORSE HAY HARDLY ENOUGH FOR DEMAND

Interior Fields Are Being Emptied of Alfalfa for the City Market.

The hay and grain market report of Scott and Magner shows that San Francisco receipts of hay for the week have been 2900 tons, which is about the same amount as arrived during the week before. A large proportion consisted of alfalfa hay from the river districts, which left the horse hay that came in hardly enough to go around. In fact, there has been less horse hay come into San Francisco in the last few weeks than has been used during that period. The city warehouses had to be drawn on heavily to meet the current requirements, and these warehouses are running down in stock heavily and unless more horse hay is brought into San Francisco during the next two weeks, it will be very difficult to fill daily orders.

The market has advanced somewhat on all grades of hay, and at the present writing is thoroughly established at quotations and decidedly firm throughout the entire line. With the limited amount of horse hay that has been arriving, considerable difficulty has been experienced in filling day to day orders, and it has not been so much a matter of price, as it has been of getting the required stock of hay into the city.

The San Francisco Hay association is about to take account of hay on hand throughout the section tributary to San Francisco market, and it is generally expected that this will show a very heavy shortage of the stock of hay on hand at this time last year. Everything in the situation appears to tend toward a firm, and even an advancing market. The demand throughout the interior is very heavy for this time, and is expected to increase decidedly as the season progresses.

Alfalfa hay has been arriving in large quantities, as the fields are being emptied and the hay either shipped in or put under cover.

Straw has been arriving in moderate quantity, and the feeling on this article is better than it has been.

The general range of wholesale prices on the San Francisco market is as follows:

	Per Ton.
Choice wheat hay	$20.00 to $21.00
No. 1 wheat or wheat and oat	18.00 to 18.50
No. 2 wheat or wheat and oat	15.50 to 17.00
Choice tame oat	17.00 to 18.00
Other tame oat...........	14.00 to 16.00
Wild oat	11.50 to 16.50
Stock hay	11.50 to 12.50
Alfalfa	11.00 to 14.50
Straw, per bale	.60 to .70

H-O

You Wouldn't Eat Raw Meat?

Neither would you eat common, ordinary "rolled oats" if you knew it was raw—and therefore indigestible. You can boil "rolled oats" all day but it won't cook them. Boiling water isn't hot enough to do it.

H-O is the "meat" of the oats, steam-cooked for three hours under pressure and high temperature, thoroughly dextrinizing the starch and making it easily digested by the most delicate stomach. The process is patented. There is no other cooked oatmeal. Tell your grocer it must be H-O this time.

NO ANSWER YET

There is no answer yet from Mr. Bryan to President Roosevelt's question. Mr. Gompers has answered, after a fashion, but that is not to the point. Everybody knew already what Mr. Gompers stood for, or, if they did not, Mr. Roosevelt made it clear by salient quotations from Gompers and his attorney. But the question is not what Gompers stands for. It is what Bryan stands for. Gompers is urging people to vote for Bryan on the ground that he is favorable to the Gompers' policy on the injunction question. Nobody can understand, from the language of the Democratic platform on this question what it means, but Mr. Gompers, in response to whose request it was passed, tells what he understands it to mean, and urges people to vote for Bryan, on the ground that that is Bryan's understanding, too. The question is, Does Mr. Bryan so understand it? And that question Mr. Bryan has carefully avoided answering.

It is not that Mr. Bryan thinks it is for any reason improper to answer the question. He started to prepare a reply the same day the question was published, and announced that night that he had not had time to finish the reply, but would give it out next day. He has not given it out yet. He has made frequent speeches in which he referred to the president's letter, attributing to it various imaginary motives, but he has not once said that he does or does not stand for the policy in which Mr. Gompers bases his support of him. And until he does answer that question, he will not be entitled to the support of either the friends or the opponents of the Gompers doctrine.

If any working man believes in the Gompers doctrine, he has certainly no reason to support a candidate for president who is trying to get his vote, on that doctrine, and yet is afraid to say that he stands for it himself. If any citizen, whether working man or not, is opposed to the Gompers doctrine, he certainly has no reason to support a candidate who, while not announcing himself for it, allows Gompers, without denial, to claim him. It is an attitude which it is simply impossible for Mr. Bryan to maintain. If he fails to answer the question, he is hopelessly lost. If he answers it, the game is up, one way or the other. But if he answers it, he will at least have been honest with the American people, which is much the cleaner way to go down to inevitable defeat.

We believe this letter of President Roosevelt's will turn out to be the decisive act of the campaign just as his reply to Parker's attack on Cortelyou was the decisive act of the last campaign. It will be decisive politically, because it puts Mr. Bryan in a position where either to answer or to fail to answer will be fatal. And it will be decisive, more fundamentally, because it has exposed with brilliant clearness the fallacy of the Gompers policy of special privilege. Mr. Gompers will never again be able to convince any appreciable fraction of the American people that opposition to his "legislative program" is opposition to labor. Everybody will now know that the only reason rational injunction legislation has not passed is that Gompers has stubbornly refused to accept anything but the full extreme of his irrational, unconstitutional and destructive program, and, while not having votes enough, or any prospect of ever getting votes enough to pass his laws, he has so far had votes enough to prevent the passage of any other laws. The one chief obstructor of reform labor legislation in the United States is Samuel Gompers. He is so effective an obstructor that he has even obstructed Mr. Bryan's mouth—a task no man in the world could ever perform before.

NOT THIS HOODOO

It is suggested that the delay in announcing the Elkins-Abruzzi wedding is due to fear lest it jeopardize Republican success at the coming election. Which is probably a yellow rorback. If Senator Elkins' industrious efforts to hoodoo the Republican party all these years have not succeeded, certainly the hoodoo will not be increased by the very creditable fact that Miss Elkins is to marry the best specimen of European royalty there is. Surely, if America is to have international marriages at all, the one most welcome foreign suitor will be this Italian royal duke, who has by his Arctic explorations and by his writings made himself in his personal capacity and on his personal merits, one of the world's distinguished men. Abruzzi may be a royal duke by the accident of birth, but he is a self-made man by his own achievements. He can't help his parentage, but he has done his best to live it down. May Miss Elkins do likewise.

GUILTY OF BOTH

Simultaneously the Calkins' syndicate berates the Republican for conniving with Democrats, and the Scripps syndicate criticises it for not doing so. Really, we can't please everybody. But if the syndicates can only agree which crime the Republican is to be charged with, perhaps we may be able to know to what we are expected to plead guilty. But we will say that we do not think that one has to be a Bryanite to be a reformer, nor a supporter of partisan yellow dogs to be a Republican. We are glad to support Taft in the interest of reform, and we might even be guilty of a long-distance prayer for the defeat of Smith, Wolfe, in the interest of Republicanism. So it may be, after all, that we are guilty of both charges. We shall not worry, if we are.

WINE RULING AND MARKETS

The bureau of internal revenue is loath to rescind its decision on the sweet wine patent medicine ruling, and it may require appeal to a higher authority, or even an enactment of congress to get the ruling reversed. The point raised by the department is that sweet wine is in an especially privileged class. It consists in part of distilled liquor, and is the only substance containing distilled spirits permitted to be sold without paying the internal revenue tax of $1.10 a proof gallon on the spirits therein contained. This special privilege, the department claims, was granted for the purpose of encouraging the wine-producing industry, but for all other purposes tax-paid spirits should be required to be used. Medicine-compounding is construed to be "another purpose." And, it is added, much of the stuff sold to the medicine men is not fit to drink, anyway. Which is regrettable, if true, but is none of the commissioner's business. There is bad whisky, also.

We doubt the validity of the department's ruling, even as a technical interpretation of the statute, and we wholly fail to follow the reasoning, when the question of policy is raised. If the wine industry is to be encouraged (as it is, in every nation on earth, including our own) by exempting it from the whisky tax, one reason is that it is considered better for the people to drink wine than to drink whisky. And if wine is better for well people, as a beverage, it is certainly better for sick people, as a medicine. If sherry or port may be prescribed straight, as a tonic, there is no reason why, if it is desired to add quinine or cascara, it should be required also to substitute whisky or imported wine for the native sherry. From the standpoint of giving the consumer wine instead of whisky, the argument applies to the medicine use as well as the beverage use. And from the standpoint of encouraging the producer of wine grapes, the argument holds equally for the two uses. In fact, there is no argument whatever, for the ruling, unless it is some technical quirk in the law, and if that exists it should be straightened out.

Nevertheless, one argument of the commissioner does point to a fundamental defect in the mercantile side of the wine business. The statement is made that largely the medicine market is supplied with very inferior goods. This is unquestionably true. All the patent medicine man wants is some form of cheap alcohol, and he buys whatever is cheapest. Naturally that is not the best. Sometimes the material sold is inferior in itself. Often its only inferiority is its lack of maturity. Sherry, for instance, is not sold for drinking purposes until it has been put through a certain ripening process, by age and "baking," or better still, long exposure to the sun. But the "sherry material" put of which this sherry is made, is sold new, raw and unprepared to the patent medicine men, who disguise its taste with a little licorice or bitters, and sell to temperance people, to take when they are sick, what the saloons would not think of selling to their topers, to take when they are well.

Now, all this wine is actually consumed, in America, by American people, at very high prices, and in an immature and unfit condition. A small part of the effort which the patent-medicine people make to sell it disguised, at a high price, would sell it straight, at a lower price, and still leave a big margin of profit. But it would have to be matured, wholesome wine. And the desire of our wine people is to find some market that will take the wine quick. Naturally, that is not a wine market. The wine market wants wine. The stuff we turn out, barely old to be racked partly clear, is hardly wine. It can be sold in New Orleans and elsewhere, to a certain cheap Latin trade, which will take anything, so long as it is strong and cheap, and it can be sold to the patent medicine people. Neither of these is a natural or normal wine market. But our dealers do not wish to give the wine a natural and normal ripening. What they want is quick sales. And they are thereby spoiling the best asset of the industry. We shall probably get the patent medicine market back, for a while; but it can not be permanent. The American people are going to get sense enough not to drink as nostrums what would not be fit to drink over the bar. If they want a wine tonic, they will learn, and should be educated to learn, to buy the wine itself, and to demand that it be good wine, properly made of proper materials, and properly matured. When our chief wine dealers come to realize the importance of guarding the future of the industry, by seeking wine markets, and supplying them with wine, then we shall have the industry on a stable basis. But so long as the consumption of our wines depends on the fluctuating Italian population of New Orleans, and on the varying enlightment of the patent medicine victims, so long will the industry be precarious.

A STATES' RIGHTS TEST

What would have been thought in the old days when governors of states disputed whether they should grant precedence to the President at dinner, if a cabinet officer, a mere bureau chief, had publicly and officially called the governor of a sovereign state a liar? Yet that is what Secretary Garfield has done in regard to Governor Haskell, of Oklahoma. He has even instructed his subordinate clerks, stationed in the state of Oklahoma, to take extraordinary pains to make public, and to bring to the individual attention of certain Indians, citizens of Oklahoma, an official communication, informing them in the name of the President that the governor of their state has lied to them.

And the queer thing is that nobody will think it is queer. Governor Haskell did lie; which would be the whole question, if it were a dispute between private individuals. If John Smith says that John Jones lied, the only question is whether John Jones did lie. But if the head of one sovereignty accuses the head of a co-ordinate sovereignty of lying, the additional question arises of the authority to make the charge, even if true. King Edward must not say officially that Kaiser Wilhelm lied, even if he did. But Secretary Garfield, by Secretary Garfield's clerk, may say that Governor Haskell lied, and no further obligation rests upon him than rests upon Smith who said Jones lied—nothing but the obligation to prove the charge true. Which Secretary Garfield easily does.

All of which signifies chiefly the utter decay of the conception of state sovereignty. In the theories of courts there are certain lines of state and national sovereignty, which the courts on both sides enforce. But in the imagination of the people the whole state sovereignty has disappeared. The sovereign is the nation, of which the state is a subdivision, just as the county is a subdivision of the state. That is not the law, but it is the popular conception, which counts for more than the law.

AN EDITORIAL DILEMMA

Mrs. Eddy is to start a daily newspaper, to print the news of the world. But some of the news of the world is evil, and evil does not exist. Great men, whose condition is of public importance, get sick, sometimes, but there is no such thing as sickness. Earthquake, fire, flood, pestilence and other calamities are reported in the news, but of course untruthfully, for there are no such things. There is likely soon to be a war in Europe, but of course wars cannot exist. Great discoveries are made in physiological science and in hygiene, but these of course are pernicious falsities. Financial calamities and panics occur, but necessarily they cannot occur. Between the facts as they are and as they must be there is an irrepressible conflict. It will be impossible to be loyal to the Truth without falsifying the truth. And as newspapers deal essentially with truth and very little with Truth, the editorial dilemma will be alarmingly difficult.

NEEDHAM MEETING WITHOUT NEEDHAM

Closing Meeting of Campaign Will Be in Honor of Congressman, Though He Cannot Be Present.

Notwithstanding that illness prevents Congressman Needham from attending Saturday night's Republican meeting, it is proposed to make it a distinctly Needham meeting. Frank H. Short will deliver the address of the meeting, and the candidates will be given an opportunity to make brief speeches. Assemblymen Drew and Chandler will be heard, and the supervisoral candidates will make their little talks. The Glee club will make its first appearance before a Fresno audience.

Tonight's meeting will be held at Kerman. E. A. Williams and Assemblyman Chandler are to be the speakers. Tomorrow night Short and Chandler speak at Madison, and the Glee club will sing. The same night at Reedley Dr. Rowell, George Cosgrave and Supervisor Mitchell will speak. Thursday night C. H. Rowell, J. P. Bernhard and A. M. Drew are scheduled for Selma, and Friday night George Cosgrave and E. E. Shepard of Selma will talk to the voters of Kingsburg.

FELLOW WHO STOLE CLOTHES AN ACCUSER

The arrest of a Greek youth giving his name as Gus Calcoonas at a late hour last night by Patrolman Correll on a charge of petit largeny, developed a queer coincidence, the equal of which has seldom been seen in local police circles.

The Greek was arrested at the instance of one Pat Fullerton, who saw Calcoonas on the streets last evening and pointed him out to the officer. The coat the Greek was wearing is claimed by Fullerton, who alleges that he left a suit of clothes in Coalinga a few months ago with a barber. Fullerton says the coat is part of his suit. The Greek says he purchased the suit from the barber for $2.75.

Fullerton says he will appear before Judge Briggs this morning and swear to a warrant charging Calcoonas with petit larceny. Only yesterday morning Fullerton was released from the county jail, after serving six months for the same crime, petit larceny, and for the same offense, stealing clothes.

CURTIS ADMITTED MORSE'S DEALINGS

Told Witness in Bank Trial that His Associates Had "Busted" New York Institution.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—After the admission of testimony by John W. Gates, former Judge Morgan J. O'Brien, Charles M. Schwab, John H. Flagler and William F. Havemeyer, to the effect that as directors of the National Bank of North America, they had never authorized the honoring of overdrafts by Charles W. Morse, the vice president of the bank, and had never known of the existence of such practice, the prosecution late today rested its case in the United States court here against the former banker and promoter and his fellow defendant, A. H. Curtis, who are being tried for alleged violation of the national banking laws.

The day's session furnished a number of sensations, not the least of which was the declaration by W. W. Lee, a former vice president of the bank, that on the day of the institution's collapse, Curtis, the president, had said to him:

"I have just told Morse that he has busted the bank."

Lee was questioned at length concerning the happenings behind closed doors of the bank during the evening hours of October 16, 1907, the day of the collapse. After the accounts of the day's transactions had been closed, it was discovered, Mr. Lee testified, that Mr. Morse had overdrawn his account $211,000. In order to make good this deficiency, Morse is alleged to have turned into the bank a quantity of securities, for the most part stocks and bonds not listed on the Stock Exchange, and of doubtful value, as collateral for a loan of $211,000. This loan the directors repudiated on the following day.

Business Is Good

Nothing pessimistic about this store. Its horizon is never bordered by sullen clouds of pessimism and distrust. It hasn't time for mourning over dull times. It doesn't permit times to get dull. It makes things lively—puts forth greater efforts to brighten the atmosphere and stimulate trade.

Business Is Good

Better last month than the same month a year ago. Better in October, 1908, than October, 1907. The world hasn't time to listen to the fellow who complains. It likes the cheery, good tempered, satisfied mortal. And stores are a good deal like men. If you want to feel the effect of good business come here—smiling clerks, busy, of course, but always attentive, flying cash and parcel carriers, plenty of hustle, activity, sunshine.

While Governor Smith was speaking, Bryan came in an instant a roar of sound from the expectant crowd drowned the governor's voice, leaped to their chairs and waving flags, cheered for fourteen minutes without cessation.

Bryan stepped to the platform rail without introduction and waited for the demonstration to cease. When quiet was restored, he began speaking. His voice was in good condition and he was heard in all parts of the immense hall.

"I expect to be in Washington after March 4th," he said. "I am glad," he continued "to be encouraged by the reports that come from your city and your state."

Force the Senate's Hand.

He pleaded for a Democratic Congress to help frame the remedial legislation which the Denver platform demanded and said that it would be possible to send to the senate measure after measure "and with a majority of the American people behind us we can demand that the senate submit to the will of the people expressed at the polls."

Bryan once again took occasion to urge the election of Chanler and the entire Democratic ticket.

Continuing Mr. Bryan said:

"I have watched the progress of this campaign. I want now, as the campaign is drawing to a close, to leave with you some thoughts I believe worthy of your consideration before you vote. I charge that the Republicans no longer lead the Republican voters. I believe that our platform better expresses the real desire of a majority of the Republicans of the United States than their desire is expressed in the Republican platform."

He called attention to what he said was the departure of the Republican leaders from the ideals of the early Republicans.

"The Republican party has claimed to be a party of morality," he declared. "It has claimed to express the conscience of the nation. I charge that today it misrepresents the general sentiment of the country and betrays the conscience of the American people."

Question of Conscience.

"There is a great question of conscience before the American people. It is honesty in politics. You cannot have honest government without honest principles and the Democratic party is inaugurating a new era in American politics. The investigations, the disclosures, the revelations had shown what enormous campaign funds have been secretly collected and corruptly used and an awakened people demand that that should stop, but the Republican senate and house refused to listen to the demand and a Republican national convention rejected a plank that was aimed at honesty in politics.

"Our committee applied the doctrine of the platform to the present campaign and has done what our national committee ever did before—it has taken the people into its confidence and laid bare the sources of its campaign contributions. The Republican committee refused to do this."

Taking up the president's letter regarding labor, Bryan said the president criticised Gompers the other day for criticising the courts.

"I submit," he declared, "that Mr. Gompers has never criticised the courts more severely than President Roosevelt has criticised the courts."

President's Daily Bulletin

The Democratic candidate charged that the president was now issuing a daily bulletin assuring the people that Mr. Taft was a friend of labor. "My friends," he said, "there is a certain mutuality about friendship; both sides have to be consulted and Mr. Roosevelt consults only one side when he discusses Mr. Taft as the friend of labor. I care not what he may say about Mr. Taft's friendship for labor. Mr. Taft's record showed that he is not in sympathy with those who toil in this country."

Mr. Bryan quoted Judge Taft's decision in the case of Thomas vs. the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Railway company, authorizing the receiver to make a cut of 10 per cent in the wages of the employes and denying their right to appeal.

The candidate elicited wild enthusiasm when he said that in the West Mr. Taft was running on his amendments to the Chicago platform, while in the East he was running on the official platform.

Mr. Bryan closed with a bitter denunciation of the president, for as he said, making himself a dictator.

Upon arriving at Cooper Union, where he proceeded immediately upon leaving Madison Square Garden, Bryan found a large cheering crowd which had waited for five hours for his coming. In his speech there he disclaimed all personal credit for the prevalence of the doctrines which he advocated.

Bryan's work did not end with his Cooper Union speech for he was scheduled to speak at three o'clock on the morning of Tuesday to an audience of night workers in City Hall park.

Uphold Gompers' Attitude.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—A resolution was adopted by the Central Labor Union of Washington at a special meeting here tonight reaffirming previous action endorsing the attitude of President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor in supporting the candidature of the Democratic party. The vote tonight stood 43 to 3 upholding Mr. Gompers.

La Fayette

¶ Shortly after his arrival in America, LaFayette wrote to his wife in France—"American women are very pretty and have great simplicity of character." Very natural then that these women should have appreciated the beauty of simplicity in silverware. Not strange either, in reviving a time-honored Colonial Pattern distinguished by extreme simplicity, that it should be named after LaFayette, whose own exalted simplicity of character made him desert the luxury of court life in the cause of American freedom. ¶ The "LaFayette" has no ornamentation. Severely plain in its surfaces, this pattern realizes the highest art of the craft, resting its charm wholly on beauty of outline. Delightfully old fashioned and typically Colonial. In Sterling only.

¶ Ask for our "LaFayette Book," and in making your selections look for the trade-mark which distinguishes the true "LaFayette."

THE FRESNO MORNING REPUBLICAN PUTS QUESTION UP TO CANDIDATES

Bristol Writes Letter to Supervisor Aspirants.

Given Opportunity to Make Public Views on the Liquor Question.

Irving B. Bristol of the Anti-Saloon league, has addressed the following letter to the Supervisorial candidates:

October 26th, 1908.

To the Supervisorial Candidates, of Fresno County.

Gentlemen: The Anti-Saloon league occupies such a position in relation to the question of majority rule upon saloon licenses, that it deems it necessary to give the people all the facts in relation thereto which it may obtain.

The Superior court having ruled that the question cannot be submitted upon the ballots at the coming election, the accompanying petition has been prepared with a view of obtaining the wishes of the majority of the electors in Fresno county, upon the proposition of licensing the retail liquor traffic outside the incorporated cities and towns of the county. The supervisors have the power to refuse to act upon such a petition, therefore we shall give the public such facts as we may obtain to guide them in selecting the candidate for which to vote. We deem it but fair to notify you of this movement that you make public any views which you desire to express in relation thereto.

Respectfully yours,
IRVING B. BRISTOL.

The accompanying petition referred to is in card form, to be signed and mailed by each voter, as follows:

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors, County of Fresno, California.

The undersigned, a qualified elector of Fresno county, residing outside the corporate limits of any city or town therein, petitions your honorable board to pass an ordinance making it unlawful to sell, barter or give away alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes, in quantities of not less than one quart, and which shall not be drunk on the premises where sold, bartered or given away, in the said county, outside the corporate limits of any city or town.

The verbally vague, but substantially clear, form of the letter is to avoid the law against exacting pledges of candidates.

$650 IS NEEDED TO COMPLETE THE SUM

Salvation Army Making Valiant Effort to Raise $10,000 to Buy Engine House.

Although the time in which to secure the $10,000 for the purchase of the old J street engine house by the Salvation Army, is rapidly drawing to a close, subscriptions are also coming in very nicely and each succeeding day sees a much smaller amount to be secured. The Army secured $250 yesterday, making a total of $650 still to be collected. The time does not expire until the first of November, and consequently there is little doubt expressed but that the necessary funds will be subscribed.

The work for which this hall will be devoted is deserving of help by all who can possibly help and all who will are urged to assist in the good cause.

PORTLAND, MAINE, CHILD

Ill, Weak and Emaciated, Restored to Health By Vinol.

"Our little daughter, 6 years of age, after a severe attack of the measles, which developed into pneumonia, was left pitifully thin, weak and emaciated. She had no appetite, and her stomach was so weak it could not retain food. She lay in this condition for weeks, and nothing the doctor prescribed did a bit of good, and we were beginning to think she would never recover.

"At this time we commenced to give her Vinol, and the effect was marvelous. The doctor was amazed at her progress, and when we told him we were giving her Vinol, he replied, 'It is a fine remedy, keep it up.' We did so, and she recovered her health and strength months before the doctor thought she could." J. W. Flagg, Portland, Me.

Vinol cures conditions like this because in a natural manner it increases the appetite, tones up the digestive organs, makes rich, red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body.

VINOL is sold in Fresno by Geo. H. Monroe Co., Druggists.

TO ARGUE BASIN ACT TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Champion and Opponent of the Measure Will Thresh It Out Before Committee.

The Isiais creek proposition will be fought out before the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow night. The acquiring by the state of India Basin was championed yesterday by Colonel W. J. Barrett of San Francisco. Noticing the interview of H. L. Stoddart in opposition to the act, Barrett immediately took up the gauge of battle, and the matter will be threshed out before the Chamber of Commerce. Barrett points out that the India Basin act, which provides for the condemnation and purchase of 64 blocks of submerged lands adjacent to Islais Creek, has the endorsement of all the newspapers in San Francisco and of a large number of public bodies. The ship owners' association is fighting the act and has secured the aid of the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants' association and the Merchants' exchange. The engineer of the Federated Harbor Improvement association has reported that, "There is no other place on the whole water front of San Francisco which presents such favorable conditions for an inner basin."

Barrett says those favoring the project are doing so for the general good of San Francisco and the state, to provide adequate accommodation for the greatly increased shipping that will follow the completion of the Panama canal and the development of the trade of the orient. On the other hand, he says the shipowners are opposing the development because of selfish reasons. He says the Pope Talbott lumber merchants are against the state acquiring the land because of ownership of adjoining land. Mr. Barrett says if the land is not acquired now, it will be impossible to acquire it later.

PRESIDENT EXONERATES PORTO RICAN GOVERNOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The Methodist Preachers' association of this city received today President Roosevelt's reply to a letter of inquiry sent him last week regarding charges brought to its attention anonymously and considered in secret session last week against Governor Regis H. Post of Porto Rico. It was alleged in these charges that the governor was hostile to church people.

President Roosevelt in his letter told the ministers that the charges referred to an incident of fifteen months ago. They were investigated thoroughly at the time and pronounced baseless.

SHORT ADDRESSES COALINGA VOTERS

Urges Return of Republican Assemblymen to Secure Voice.

Declares Pacific Coast Will Be More Benefited By Election of Taft.

Coalinga Republicans were out in full force at a meeting held in the opera house in the little oil city last night. The house was crowded and the meeting was overrunning with enthusiasm. Frank H. Short of this city gave the principal address of the evening and his remarks were frequently interrupted by applause.

Short made a strong plea for all Republicans to stay by the party through thick and thin. He urged the voters of that city, if they wished to have a voice in naming the next Senator from this state to congress, to put the Republican nominee in the legislature.

In the course of his remarks, Short stated that the tariff proposition as far as Democrats were concerned, was only a local proposition. He stated that all Democratic representatives were in favor of removing the tariff when it did not affect their particular district. When the suggestion was made to remove the tariff in their district, however, it was an altogether different story.

Short then devoted a short time to showing why Taft should be elected especially for the benefit of the Pacific coast. He pointed out that the Republican candidate was extremely familiar with conditions on the Pacific coast and that he had always taken a great interest in the welfare of the western part of this country.

The speaker followed with a discussion on the advantages to be gained by maintaining inviolate the injunction powers of the courts. He declared that all Americans, whether employers or employees, had the right of protection and that the injunction is to protect citizens from unlawful injury. Every American, he declared, wanted his rights protected and Short declared that these rights were due him.

According to all reports from the Coalinga district, the prospects for a Republican victory in that section are brighter than they have been for some time.

BALKAN QUESTION STILL UNSETTLED

Little Chance for an Agreement Among the Powers for a General European Congress

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The British government has issued in London and through the British ambassadors abroad a formal denial of a rupture in the direct negotiations between Austria-Hungary and Turkey and Great Britain's intervention together with a statement that any direct arrangement satisfactory to Turkey would in the opinion of the British government smooth the way to a general settlement.

Although there has been no change in the sentiment, the tendency is toward peace. Servia remains the danger point and the visit of the Servian crown prince to St. Petersburg arouses a certain amount of apprehension in the absence of actual knowledge as to whether he is going on a matrimonial errand or a diplomatic mission to the emperor, or has merely been sent by King Peter to put an end to his dangerous situation. The prince is accompanied by Pachitch, the Servian premier, and in an interview while passing through Budapest, the premier said that the prince's mission was to persuade the Russian emperor to intervene against the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

He added that he expected great good results for Servia. Only a few days ago the crown prince declared that although he was no firebrand and desired peace, the question was a matter of life or death for Servia and she was prepared to fight if abandoned by the powers. It is reported from both Vienna and Constantinople that direct negotiations between Austria and Turkey will be resumed.

The Times' Constantinople correspondent believes that Turkey is ready to enter into direct negotiations with Bulgaria on the basis of Bulgaria's assuming the Ottoman debt of $50,000,000 and paying the arrears of the Russian tribute.

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—A semi-official news agency summarizes the results of the conference which has been going on between M. Iswolsky, the Russian foreign minister; Prince Von Bulow, the imperial chancellor, and Herr Von Schoen, German secretary for foreign affairs, as follows:

"The German government has no objection in principle to the proposed international congress to discuss the Balkan situation.

"The German and Russian governments recognize the fact that a conference of the powers can prove useful only if a complete agreement among all the signatories of the Berlin treaty, respecting the scope and contents of the program to be submitted to the conference be attained before hand. The German government adheres to the standpoint that it will be unable to accept the proposals to which Austria-Hungary raises objections. The contentions will be subject to further negotiations.

"A complete agreement, however, reached on other points in the draft of the program, particularly those referring to the proposals in the interest of Turkey.

"Both governments will continue their efforts to find a peaceful and just solution of the present difficulties."

ARCHBISHOP RIORDAN SPEAKS AT SANTA CLARA

SAN JOSE, Oct. 26.—Wholesome advice on the subject of the sowing of wild oats was given the students of Santa Clara college at noon today by Archbishop P. W. Riordan of San Francisco, who was tendered a warm reception by the students and faculty. Edmond S. Lowe, James Hadda and Maurice T. Dooling Jr. spoke for the students, welcoming the prelate.

Urges Machine Gun Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Major General J. Franklin Bell, chief of the general staff of the army, called on the president today and presented a report made to him by Captain John Parker on experiments for a machine gun service. Captain Parker has been at work for a year at the Presidio of Monterey, Cal., on these experiments. It is said he raised a machine company for every regiment of infantry in the army. In his forthcoming message to Congress the president will probably recommend that such a service be inaugurated.

REGRETTED THAT JURY SPARED JACKMAN'S LIFE

Judge at Goldfield Condemns Murderer to Life Imprisonment, in Scathing Lecture.

GOLDFIELD, Nev., Oct. 26.—Albert T. Jackman, convicted of the murder of John Moritz, was today sentenced to life imprisonment. Judge Langan, in passing sentence, delivered a scathing lecture to the convicted man declaring that as he, Jackman, had shown no mercy to his victim, he could expect no mercy and would express his regrets that he could not sentence him to be hung.

James A. Flynn, a miner, who was assaulted and knocked to the sidewalk last Thursday night by "Kid" Hogan, died at Sacred Heart this morning. Hogan probably will be tried for murder. He knocked Flynn down because the latter refused to give him a portion of his winnings at roulette.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM MOTHER HUBBARD DRESS

Candidate Chafin Says It Covers a Whole Lot, But Touches Nothing.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The Democratic national platform was likened to a Mother Hubbard dress which covers a whole lot, but touches nothing by Eugene W. Chafin, the Prohibition candidate for president, in an address here today. Mr. Chafin did not give much attention to the other political parties, however, confining himself very closely to the plea for universal prohibition.

Mr. Chafin was accompanied by Aaron S. Watkins, candidate for the vice-presidency who spoke briefly.

LABORING MEN DIVIDED ON PRESIDENTIAL VOTE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—T. J. Dolan, president of the International Brotherhood of Steam Shovelmen and Drillers, called upon President Roosevelt today and talked with him regarding the political situation. Mr. Dolan has just returned from a trip through Indiana, Ohio and New York and he told the President that as a result of his observation and from reports of several organizers of the brotherhood the labor vote seemed to be pretty evenly divided. The men, he said, were not expressing themselves to any extent and it was hard to learn just where they stood. He reported that most of the men in his brotherhood were with Judge Taft because they always found that he treated them squarely when they asked anything that was right.

SPIRITUALIST FRAUDS PUT UNDER THE BAN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—The city council today passed the ordinance forbidding mediums, fortune tellers and others to advertise to restore lost lovers, find gold mines and do other things that some claim they are able to do by occult science.

The ordinance passed is a compromise agreed on by the State Spiritualists' association and a large number of mediums and fortune tellers. The purport of the ordinance is to prevent fraud in the practice of mediumship and is similar to the one in force in Chicago and Portland.

BROWNSVILLE SOLDIER SEEKING REINSTATEMENT BY THE SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The attorneys for Oscar W. Reid, one of the negro soldiers who was discharged from the army on account of alleged participation in the Brownsville affair, endeavored today to have the supreme court of the United States advance the hearing of his case. The case was decided against Reid in the U. S. circuit court for the Southern district of New York.

In a statement filed with the motion, the attorneys say that "the principal matter involved is the right of the president, arbitrarily and summarily in time of peace, to discharge without honor, without trial before a court-martial or other constituted tribunal of any sort, a duly enlisted soldier in the regular army of the United States before his term of enlistment has expired, without proof of wrongdoing on his part.

GAS COMPANY MAY COLLECT HIGHER RATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—United States District Judge Van Fleet today modified the injunction obtained by the San Francisco Gas and Electric Company against the board of supervisors to prevent the reduction of the gas rate from $1 to 85 cents, so as to permit the company to collect at the higher rate, the excess, however, to be deposited subject to the order of the court, pending the final determination of the case. The ruling is similar to that recently made in the case of the Spring Valley Water Company.

Banker is Found Guilty.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 26. — William Montgomery, former cashier of the defunct Allegheny National Bank, which failed some time ago for over $1,000,000 who was placed on trial last Friday on two indictments charging embezzlement and abstraction of $469,000, was found guilty as indicted by a jury in the United States district court this afternoon.

Montgomery was immediately placed on trial on a third and last indictment charging him with the misapplication of $44,000 in funds.

It is expected the third trial will be disposed of as quickly as the first.

Politics Active in San Diego.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 26.—Both parties are planning to keep the political pot warm during this, the last week of the campaign. Theodore A. Bell will be the principal speaker Wednesday night and Frank Gould on Saturday night. Meanwhile the county candidates in an automobile will campaign the county, speaking at many places. The Republicans are none the less active. Senator Wright, Cuchin, F. W. Stearns, W. R. Guy and E. C. Hinkle will be out through the county all the week and will close the campaign with a monster meeting in this city Monday night.

French Cardinal Dies.

LONDON, Oct. 26—Cardinal Francois Ireacle Mathieu, former archbishop of Toulouse, France, died in this city today.

The cardinal was a delegate to the Eucharistic conference held in London last summer. He became ill here and underwent an operation shortly after his arrival. He was born in 1839 and created a cardinal in 1899. He was a member of the French academy and had a seat on the tribunal Segnatura at Rome.

She is on her way to Magdalena bay where she will tow targets for the Pacific fleet during target practice. The midget fleet is coaling today from the collier Justin and it is said they will get away tomorrow morning for the south.

NO REPLY YET FROM BRYAN

suggested the abolition of the injunction process," Mr. Gompers insists that labor desires to have the injunction restored to the use "from which it has been ruthlessly diverted, from the protection of property rights to the invasion of personal freedom." He quotes from the president's message to Congress and declares that they "show an utter confusion of the entire matter of injunction in Mr. Roosevelt's mind." He claims that the decisions of the lower courts of Great Britain, which were reversed by the higher courts there, have been accepted as the basis for the issuance of injunctions in the United States. Mr. Gompers also insists that the provisions of the Pearre and Wilson bills, advocated by the Federation of Labor, are not as broad or as comprehensive in scope as the British trades disputes act. "The mere fact," continues Mr. Gompers, "that Mr. Roosevelt denounces a proposition as wicked, does not so constitute it; time and circumstances and party obligation have persuaded him to modify his judgment and his utterances. Surely, it must bring unction to him to find his unwarranted attack on me so thoroughly appreciated by the New York Sun, which characterizes him for his past utterances in as severe language as that with which he now attacks me."

Is in Good Company.

Referring to dissenting opinions of Justice Harlan, Justice Moody and many distinguished jurists and legal authorities on the abuse of the injunction, he declares that Mr. Roosevelt has "placed me in good company."

"Of course," he says, "every one knows that the president has strongly urged every measure which he advocated and then accepted what his political opponents of his own party chose to give him. It is general knowledge that he had a more liberal platform prepared for adoption by the Republican convention at Chicago and that accepted what they doled out. All know that the nomination of Mr. Sherman for the vice presidency was contorted by Senator Burrows and Speaker Cannon as a slap in the face to Mr. Roosevelt, but the president, because his injunction judge, Mr. Taft, had been nominated for the presidency, now not only swallows the whole pot pourri, but must needs directly and indirectly attack me in the fight which my fellow workers and I are making in defense of equality before the law, of the men who labor with all other citizens, and the establishment of human freedom."

Mitchell Supporting Him.

Mr. Gompers asserts that the "Pearre injunction bill, which Mr. Roosevelt attacks, has been before several Congresses without a word of criticism or comment from him," and scouts the suggestion that "Mr. Mitchell and other labor leaders" are not in sympathy with him in his advocacy of the Pearre and Wilson injunction bills.

"John Mitchell, Frank Morrison and I are now on trial to show cause why we should not be sent to jail because we exercised our constitutional rights, having violated no law of state or nation," said Mr. Gompers. "Will the president publicly justify Justice Gould's injunction and the contempt proceedings to send Mitchell, Morrison and me to jail on the grounds for contempt which are put forward by the Bucks Stove and Range Company under that injunction? The injunction issued by Justice Gould is based upon injunctions issued by Judge Taft and Judge Taft's language is quoted by Justice Gould.

"It is the purpose of the opponents of labor to villify the labor movement through me, and Mr. Roosevelt now joins the chorus on the pretext that I have attacked the federal courts. As a man and as a citizen, I have nothing to retract; but I insist that despite great provocation I have always expressed my views and criticism—perhaps in strong, yet in respectful language."

With machine and rider dust-begrimed from the wear and tear of a 213 mile endurance motorcycle run from Fresno to San Francisco and return, John E. Dougherty, mounted on a single-cylinder Wagner, with one pedal missing and the rear tire flat, dashed along 1 street at a 20-mile per hour clip at 19 minutes past 5 o'clock last night, finishing at the bicycle store of Donahoo-Emmons and company, the winner of the big event. As the former crack sprinter and the present holder of the Australian pursuit championship of the San Joaquin valley, jumped, or rather fell in a dazed condition, from his machine in the center of the street, a cheer that could be heard for blocks went up from throats of several hundred followers of the bicycle and motorcycle racing game, who had assembled to witness the finish.

He was surrounded by his numerous friends, who grasped his hand and showered him with congratulations for his pluck. He was assisted into the store, while others carried his machine after him. Dougherty's left eye was half shut and highly inflamed as the result of a bit of dirt flying into the member yesterday while traversing the Kearney boulevard on the trip to San Francisco. Dust baked through his goggles and only helped to further close the eye.

Although the winner did not make a perfect score returning, he came within 15 minutes of doing so, while his nearest opponent, Archie Caughell, on a Harley-Davidson, was given second place. George Woods, on an Indian arrived after Dougherty, but he lost 250 points to the 18 for Dougherty. Caughell was about 100 points behind.

Dougherty stated last night that he had no intention of winning the big race, as he was scratch man and entered only to assist in making the race a success for the promoters, Ben Bresee, the Caughells and John Hertweck, the local agent for the Indian machine.

Dougherty had good luck until he struck the subway at the Fresno street crossing of the Southern Pacific. Here he punctured his rear tire, but rode the remainder of the distance on the flat tire. Harry Cogburn had misfortune all the way. He made a perfect score until he reached San Francisco, when his frame broke.

According to the rules, his machine was locked up for the night and was repaired after his time to start yesterday morning. He lost two hours and a half, yet he came nearly finishing second. A few miles from the city on the Whites bridge road he ran off a bridge spraining his leg and breaking his machine.

Dr. Coney and Coney arrived late last night. Coney came on the train, while Coney gave up the race Sunday at San Jose.

W. C. T. U. ADOPTS LONG PLATFORM

Many Moral Issues Set Forth in Addition to the Demand for Universal Prohibition.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 26.—The sessions of the thirty-fifth annual convention of the W. C. T. U. were given over today to the adoption of reports and resolutions.

The resolutions reaffirm unfaltering belief in total abstinence from the use of alcoholic liquors and pledge unyielding effort in extending this belief. They declare that prohibition is the only means of wiping out effectually the traffic in intoxicating liquors, and demand a constitutional amendment providing for prohibition.

A continuation of agitation for the enactment of laws that will give "to women equal suffrage with men" is pledged. The resolution further insists upon a single standard of morals for men and women, and deplores the existence of the so-called white slave traffic, as well as the system "known as the segregation and lining of vice."

Demand is made that those who rent property for vicious purposes be ostracized by society, as well as punished by law.

Regret is expressed for "the continual function by congress on the Littlefield bill," which was destined to protect prohibition territory against the encroachment of the liquor traffic through interstate commerce, and demand is made that the issuance of internal revenue tax receipts in all prohibition territory be discontinued.

The legislatures of the various states are asked to memorialize congress to secure prohibition for the District of Columbia. Demands are made for a national commission to investigate the effects of the liquor traffic upon the moral and industrial affairs of the nation, and for an amendment to the federal constitution prohibiting polygamy in all sections under the jurisdiction of the United States.

The resolutions protest against the use of the national flag as an emblem by "the personal liberty league" because this league "stands for the saloon," advocates the reading of the Bible without comment in the public schools; endorses the juvenile court, and criticises the license system in the Panama zone.

In her report on franchise, Miss Maud McIlvain Sanders of Colorado states that nineteen states are planning a suffrage campaign for the coming year. The most encouraging reports, she said, were coming from California, Ohio, Nebraska, Indiana, Maine, New Jersey and West Virginia.

Miss Lelia Sewell of Massachusetts, superintendent of the National Flower Mission, reported that during the year 1,537,740 bouquets had been distributed.

By resolution November 2nd was named as a day of special thanksgiving for past victories and earnest prayers for the success of prohibition November 3.

JURY DISAGREES IN THE ARSON CASE

STOCKTON, Oct. 26.—The jury in the arson case against Dise Hopkins, former publisher of the Lodi Herald, tonight reported a disagreement and was discharged. A printer named Helgenmeister, who was employed in the office when it was destroyed by fire about a year ago, was recently convicted on the same charge and he testified that he set the fire for Hopkins to recover the insurance money, admitting that he testified falsely before the grand jury and on his own trial. The defense was that Hopkins had no object in burning the office and the testimony was to that end. The current report is that the jury stood 9 to 3 for conviction, but they refuse to discuss the vote.

ANOTHER SEARCH FOR MAN LOST IN STORM

Bloodhounds Will Be Used in Effort to Locate Fred Kloeber in Washington.

GREEN RIVER HOT SPRINGS, Wash., Oct. 26.—A party of experienced woodsmen headed by Dr. J. B. Kloeber left the hotel at dawn today to renew the search for Fred Kloeber. They will proceed to the spot where the body of Julius Kumle, his companion, was found yesterday, and take up the trail from there. Weather conditions on the mountains are clear and favorable. No efforts will be spared to continue the hunt until the fate of the missing man is determined. Those who hope for the best count on the fact that Mr. Kloeber was an experienced hunter and resourceful in taking care of himself in the woods. Besides this he was vigorous and possessed of good staying qualities.

Blood hounds from Spokane were expected to arrive at Hot Springs today and will be taken out on the trail promptly.

The body of Kumle will be prepared for burial and await the arrival of his brother who is now enroute from San Francisco. The dead man was a member of the Elks and Eagles lodges.

ABUSE OF BRYAN WOULD BE CRUELTY TO CHILDREN

Sherman Says a National Campaign Without the Nebraskan Would Seem Strange.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 26.—The last week's campaigning of the Republican vice-presidential nominee James S. Sherman, was begun here tonight amid much enthusiasm. The candidate arrived from Utica shortly after 6 o'clock and was taken to the Hotel Rochester, where a reception was held. Immediately after Sherman reviewed a large torchlight parade. Following this he went to Convention hall, where a large crowd gave him welcome.

"I am not here to abuse Mr. Bryan," said Mr. Sherman in his speech. "If I did I ought to be arrested for cruelty to children. He will get all that's coming to him November 3rd. I like Mr. Bryan and I hope he will live long and prosper in his calling—that of running for office. There is a lot of satisfaction in having Bryan run for the presidency because we always know exactly what will happen."

MORE NIGHT RIDERS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

CAMP NEMO, Reelfoot Lake, Tenn., Oct. 26. — Fourteen prisoners were brought into camp today in connection with recent night-rider outrages in this section. This makes a total of sixty-two now in custody here. Three mounting scouting parties went out and two of them returned. The third will not be back before tomorrow night.

A detachment headed by Major R. E. Martin prepared to go to Obion tonight to search for the mysterious masked men who were reported to have been seen near that town. After communicating with several persons Colonel Tatom decided that the story was without foundation and recalled the orders.

AMERICANS TO HAVE THREE CARDINALATES

LONDON, Oct. 26.—A dispatch from Rome to a news agency says the Pope has decided that a special consistory shall be held for the nomination of new American cardinals. After the reorganization of the American dioceses, the Americans shall have three cardinals.

MASKED HIGHWAYMEN ENTER SALOON AND SHOOT MAN

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 26.—Two masked highwaymen entered a saloon at 204 Taylor street in this city shortly after midnight and ordered Fred Grubbbel, the bartender, to throw up his hands. Grubbbel refused to comply with the order and one of the robbers fired, hitting the bartender in the leg and inflicting a flesh wound. Without further attempt to rob the place the men turned and left the place. They have not been captured.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

Best Game of Season

Two rival clubs of amateur tossers from North Park met on the Poplar avenue diamond, yesterday afternoon to settle a dispute of long standing as to which was the better team. The big game ended in a 2 to 1 victory for the Tigers, their opponents being the Sharks. Both aggregations put up a fast article of the great national game, few errors being made, which is a record for amateur ball in Fresno. The losers were not content with the result and challenged the winners for another game Saturday afternoon next at 2 o'clock on the same grounds. The defi was accepted by Captain Tommie Dodge of the Tigers. Sivilo Di Jiva is manager and captain of the Sharks.

QUAIL HUNT COST BALL PLAYERS $20

Two Certain Fresno Players Fined $10 Each.

Were Absent When They Should Have Been Practicing.

Cigars	$3.00
"Snake-bite"	1.50
Rental of guns	1.50
Vehicle, (auto)	10.00
Cartridges	5.00
Ginger-ale	1.00
One hunting license	1.00
Quail or ducks	0000

No, dear fan, the above is not the expense bill of one of Fresno's State league baseball players for one day, but represents the expenditure of two well known ball tossers to the bugs of Fresno.

No names are to be mentioned in reference to the abuse, but it all happened like this: Two certain Raisin Eaters decided to go on a little hunting trip last week. At the same time they were paid to practice for the two games with Santa Cruz. But they were positive that a band of quail and a million or more of ducks were awaiting them somewhere in the rural districts. But they didn't need to practice for the Sand Crabs. They would be easy picking, and they proved to be such. But the latter part has nothing to do with the manager and captain's expense account.

They went on their hunting trip, alright, while the remaining members of the club gathered at Recreation park and wondered where their captain and manager were. The second sacker, the left and center fielder and the first baseman played another game of whist in the club house and with their uniforms on, still debating over just what to do. But there was to be no practice unless they went at it without captain or manager. The afternoon passed and the players returned to the city.

Then they learned that their manager and captain had gone on a quail hunt, which is against the rules during the week, with the exception of Monday. Every player expected to be invited to a quail dinner that night, but such was not the case. The absent tossers failed to run up to their usual form.

But next day, President A. B. Evans learned of the little jaunt into the woods, and each quail-hunter was assessed a $10-spot. Thus, the hunt cost them $20, and both are figuring that their quail cost them about $5 each.

WAR EXPERIMENTS AT CAMP ATASCADERO

Cavalry Will Attempt Today to Capture a Wagon Train.

CAMP ATASCADERO, Oct. 26.—Lieutenant Pritchett, of the First artillery today entered the first baseball game of the athletic contest in a sensational fashion by reaching into the clouds and tagging out the runner at second base in one motion. The score then stood, artillery, 6; cavalry, 5, and any bobble would have tied the game.

This ball game is typical of the spirit with which the regular troops here have entered into every contest since coming to camp. Whether it be the war game or the national amusement they go in to do their best.

Tonight a battalion of the Twentieth Infantry gave a magnificent exhibition of a night attack, followed by a bayonet charge. The theoretical enemy was completely annihilated, in the presence of all the officers of the camp who had turned out as witnesses.

Col. Walter Schuyler's lecture on the Russo-Japanese war was pronounced by those present today as being the best word picture yet heard by them of actual conditions existing in the Russian army before and during the conflict.

Captain Jenkins of the fifth cavalry will tomorrow attempt to capture a wagon train convoyed by a much larger force under Major Wright of the eighth infantry. This promises the most spirited cavalry action of the present maneuvers as convoy attacks are mainly the work of that arm.

Continuance in Blake Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26. — The sentencing of E. A. S. Blake, the contractor convicted of having attempted to influence John M. Martin, a veniremman drawn on the panel of the jury to try Abraham Ruef, to vote for Ruef's acquittal in the event he qualified as a juror, was continued until Thursday morning. Judgment was to have been passed upon Blake this morning, but upon representations made by his attorney that he had not had time to go through the record of the case with a view of presenting points upon a motion for a new trial, Judge Dunne granted a continuance.

He Did Not Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26. — That Leo P. Stout, a youth who disappeared last Tuesday leaving a note addressed to his mother, a resident of Pittsburg, Pa., stating that he intended to commit suicide, did not carry out his intention, as was believed at the time, was proved today when he appeared in the police court to answer to a charge of larceny for taking some trinkets from a room.

Dies from Highwayman's Shot.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Oct. 26.—E. L. Bowman, who was shot in the left side Friday night by a highwayman whom Bowman attempted to resist, died at Seaside hospital last night. The police have no clew to the murderer. One suspect arrested yesterday was taken before Bowman but was not identified as his assailant. The shooting occurred at Fourth street and Cedar avenue, in a fashionable residence district.

ACTORS TO PLAY DECIDING GAME

Friday Afternoon Is Date Set for Big Event.

Each Club Has a Victory to Its Credit—Empires Have New Twirler and Mascot.

The third game on the Recreation park diamond between the actors' baseball club of the Novelty theater and a like organization of stars from the Empire will be played next Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, instead of Thursday afternoon, as originally scheduled. This announcement was made yesterday by Manager Harry Hallen of the Empire Whirlwinds and Manager Chauncey Southern of the Novelty Cyclones.

The change in dates was consummated at the suggestion of Manager Eaton of the Fresno State league club, owing to the fact that the Raisin Eaters leave for San Jose Friday for the series with the Prune Pickers Saturday and Sunday. As the local boys realize that two hard games are scheduled, some hard training licks will be put in every day this week, the final practice being Thursday, when the actors' game was billed.

Hallen, the "Frank Chance" of the Whirlwinds, made public a part of his line-up for the coming game, the crucial one of the season for the championship of Fresno. Each team has a victory to its credit and Friday will decide which is the better club.

Hallen has a new skin artist in the shape of one Thomas Elfred Hogan, who will arrive from Connecticut today, where he has been playing in fast company for four months. The mascot will be Bill Berger, who filled the same position for the Chicago Cubs for four weeks. It was also announced that the Empire actors have a surprise for their friends and the Novelty troupe Friday, when the Whirlwinds make their appearance on the field in new costumes, the makeups being entirely original.

RELAY RACE AROUND THE CITY IS PLANNED

Three 25-Men Teams from the Local Y. M. C. A. Entered.

Plans are being consummated by members of the Y. M. C. A. for a big relay race over the city Thanksgiving day. There will be three teams composed entirely of members of the Y. M. C. A. These teams will be picked with the idea of getting them as nearly even as possible and it is expected that about twenty-five men will participate on each side.

Each man will be required to run about a quarter of a mile and the losing side will have to put up a big chicken dinner. The members in the gymnasium classes are already taking an active interest and many started to work out last night to get into condition.

Gymnasium classes for the winter and spring term were opened yesterday afternoon. At the business men's class, 14 were in attendance, a large number for the beginning of the year. The seniors met last night and 41 were in the initial class.

The boys' classes will be organized this afternoon at 4 o'clock and tonight at 7:15, the intermediates will meet for the first time. The business men will meet again this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE BEATEN IN THE COURTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—The district court of appeals today sustained the demurrer of the district attorney of Alameda county to the petition of the Independence league of that county asking that the supervisors be compelled to apportion election officers between the Republican party and the league. The court held that the law meant that the largest two votes polled in the state, not in any county or district, governed such apportionment.

Is Saved from Jail.

DENVER, Oct. 26.—By a vote of 5 to 2 the Supreme court, after hearing arguments, set aside the order of District Judge Allen directing the secretary of state to place the anti-Guggenheim and Business Men's tickets on the official ballot for the election November 3 and rescinded Judge Allen's order committing Secretary of State Timothy E. O'Conner to jail for contempt of court. The rejected tickets were filed by the faction of the Republican party opposed to the leadership of United States Senator Simon Guggenheim.

Steamer Cannot Enter Bay

SAN FRANCISCO Oct. 26.—The Pacific Mail company's liner Manchuria, in bound from the Orient, arrived off this port today, but encountered a heavy fog bank making it impossible for the ship to pass the heads. The Manchuria anchored at sea and will come in at sunrise tomorrow, if the fog lifts. The ship is two days ahead of schedule as the company hopes to land its freight before the new trans-continental rates become effective November 1. The Manchuria carries 1850 rolls of matting, the largest single shipment ever received here.

Roosevelt Fifty Years Old.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Tomorrow will be the fiftieth anniversary of President Roosevelt. He will not take a day off to celebrate the occasion, but will be hard at work in his office. No family celebration has been planned so far as known, but something in the nature of a surprise may be sprung upon the president by Mrs. Roosevelt, probably in the nature of a dinner party.

Supreme Court Adjourns

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—Before final adjournment of the Supreme Court today, the court en banc issued a peremptory writ of mandate in the case of Gertrude Stewart against the Superior Court of San Diego county. The order is that the lower court settle the bill of exceptions in the Stewart divorce case which was decided in favor of the husband. Mrs. Stewart can now take appeal to the higher court on various law points.

McIntosh of San Francisco; vice president, J. E. Fishburne of Los Angeles; secretary, C. E. Goodride of Los Angeles. After the adoption of a constitution and a general discussion of banking matters, an adjournment was taken, subject to the call of the chair.

HATFIELD DECLARED NOT TO BE DUNHAM

Numerous Persons at San Jose Inspect the Man Brought from Texas.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Oct. 26.—"That is not Dunham," exclaimed ex-Sheriff George Y. Bollinger this morning as he entered the cell occupied by Wm. Hatfield, the Dunham suspect who arrived here last night from Sherman, Texas, in custody of Sheriff Langford. Bollinger was positive, saying that while there was a general resemblance at first glance, the two men in fact had nothing in common when it came to details of features and personality.

Hatfield had a stream of visitors during the forenoon, several of whom had known Dunham more or less, and all of them were of one opinion, viz: That the prisoner is not Dunham. This afternoon other acquaintances of Dunham will inspect Hatfield, but Sheriff Langford and Under Sheriff Buffington are confident that there can be but one verdict on the subject.

Dunham had black hair, and it was sprinkled with gray twelve years ago when his fearful crime was committed. Hatfield's hair is light and none of it gray. There are other contrasts equally marked, and at once discernible to those who knew Dunham. Hatfield will be kept here until all who desire have a look at him, and then doubtless he will be released.

Alleged Bookmakers Discharged.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Sol Lichtenstein, Orlando A. Jones and five other lesser known frequenters of the race tracks were discharged from custody and the charges of violating the Agnew-Hart anti-gambling laws were dismissed today by Magistrate Geismar of Brooklyn. The magistrate said the distinguishing features of bookmaking are having a stand, posting odds, or change of money and making records in such a way as to conduct a public gambling business. The men accused, he said, walked about talking to people to obtain bets. They also bet with others, thus acting as both layers and backers. This, the magistrate said, was not bookmaking.

Noted Missionary Dies.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26.—Rev. Dr. Hiram Bingham, the noted Congregational missionary, who underwent a surgical operation at Johns Hopkins hospital last week, died there yesterday. Dr. Bingham was born in Honolulu in 1831, to which place his parents had gone from America in 1820 as pioneer missionaries. In 1856 he went to the Gilbert Islands as a missionary. Dr. Bingham reduced the Gilbertese language to writing and wrote a number of books in that tongue.

Buried Under Falling Rock

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—Lorn Jans, a "mucker" employed on the Los Angeles aqueduct, was killed by falling rock this afternoon near Midway camp in the Jawbone section. He was shoveling earth in one of the tunnels when a section of rock fell on him, causing almost instant death. Efforts were made to locate relatives of the man but without success.

WILLEMSTAD, Oct. 26.—According to letters received here the people of Venezuela are confident of a prompt settlement of the dispute between that country and Holland. The refusal of President Castro to revoke the decree of May 14th is regarded as a bluff to distract attention from the doing of the revolutionists.

EASTERN QUOTATIONS

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The advancing tendency recently noted in the market for evaporated apples which appears to have been followed by a somewhat easier tone, as immediate requirements have been largely supplied. New crop prime are quoted at 6¾@7; old crop 4½@7, according to grade.

Prunes are in export demand on the coast but the spot market is quiet with quotations ranging from 4¼ to 13 for California and 6¼@7½ for Oregon fruit.

Apricots are in fair demand on spot with choice 8@8¼; extra choice 8½@9; fancy 9½@10.

Peaches are dull with choice quoted at 6¾@7; extra choice 7½@8 and fancy at 8½@9.

Raisins are said to be covering as the result of the new combination on the coast but the spot market remains unchanged with loose Muscatels quoted at 3¾@6½; seeded 6@7¾; seedless 4¼@6, and London layers $1.60@$1.65.

CHICAGO.—Trade in the wheat pit was light all day and price fluctuations were confined within a half cent range. There was a little firmness at the start owing to moderate advances at Liverpool but before the end of the first half hour sentiment had become bearish and this heavy tone predominated throughout the greater part of the session. Additional rains in the wheat belt were the most influential factors of the day. Advices were received from Argentina claiming frosts in that country Saturday night but the failure of European grain markets to show any excitement on the subject caused local traders to minimize the possible damage to growing wheat. World's shipments for the week were less than had been generally expected, being 10,976,000 bushels compared with 11,712,000 the previous week. The visible supply of wheat in the United States and Canada showed an increase of 3,-157,000 bushels for the week, against a decrease of 360,000 bushels the corresponding week a year ago. Export clearances today were large, being equal to 626,000 bushels, but no new sales were reported although Duluth claimed bids were near the market price. The amount on passage decreased 740,000 bushels.

Wet weather had a strengthening effect on the corn market, especially for the December delivery, but prices showed only slight gains. Cash corn at the sample tables was from 1 to 3 cents lower. The market closed steady with prices unchanged to ⅛ lower with December at 63½. Trade in oats was dull. Cash oats at the sample tables are steady to half lower. At the close prices were a shade lower to ¼ higher.

Provisions opened active. Trade became much quieter later in the day and sentiment less bullish, although prices held at moderate advances throughout the entire session. At the close prices were 7½ to 27½@30c higher.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Wheat steady; no trading; cash $1.62½@$1.67½.

Barley firm; May $1.43¾@$1.44¼; December $1.42; cash $1.36¼@$1.40.

Corn nominal; large yellow $1.85@$1.90.

Afternoon session—Wheat steady; May $1.71@$1.72½; December $1.64½ asked.

Barley firm; May $1.43¾@$1.44¼; December $1.42½.

LIVERPOOL.—Close: Wheat: December 7s 7¾d; March 7s 8¾d; May 7s 5¼d. Weather rainy.

CHICAGO.—Butter steady; creamery 20@29; dairies 18@23.

Eggs firm; firsts 25.

LIVERPOOL.—Hops at London (Pacific Coast) steady; 2 pounds @ 2 pounds 15s.

ST. LOUIS.—Wool unchanged; territory and western mediums, 17@20; fine mediums 15@17; fine 13@14.

NEW YORK.—Sugar: Raw firm; fair refining $3.56@$3.59; centrifugal 96 test $4.06@$4.09; molasses sugar $3.31@$3.34. refined steady; crushed $5.90; powdered $5.30; granulated $5.20.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Sentiment in the stock market today was quite cheerful but its active expression by buying of stocks was restrained. This seemed to be in accord with the trade desires of controlling forces in the market. With the last week of the presidential campaign entered upon and the general assumption that the passing of the election is to be the signal for awakened public buying of stocks the supporters of the market are content apparently to hold prices and await the outcome.

The prospect of the whirlwind political activity in contemplation for the week and at the doors of Wall street was an additional motive towards conservatism. The dealings fell at times today near to the point of idleness and were at all times dull and uneventful. The influential sentiment was the further rise in the price of copper. The course of the market for this metal was closely wrapped up with that of the stock market throughout the summer and much attention is paid to it by those seeking to read the intentions of the market supporters. This is due in part to the close affiliations of the group of capitalists believed to be the managing leaders of the market with the copper industry.

Speculation and manipulation in the copper market went hand in hand with the same thing in the stock market throughout the summer. The Harriman Pacifics resumed the leadership of the railroad list and Northern Pacific made a brisk recovery from the pressure of realizing sales which held it down last week. The support of prices got no assistance from foreign sources as markets abroad were inclined to depression. London finances are disturbed by the continued requisition of Paris in that center for gold and a possible advance in the Bank of England discount rate came under discussion today. There was renewed uneasiness also over the Balkan situation. The near Eastern question, however, seems to have lost its influence on the New York stock market.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,972,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Ho, for Mexico.

Some of the richest land in the world is now being put on the market in Yaqui Valley, State of Sonora, Mexico. Railroad running through it with irrigation system plants of water. A few thousand acres left at $10 per acre. Come quick if you want any of this land. Let us tell you all about it. Eight thousand acres sold last week. This is the greatest snap that has ever been offered to the public.

"DEAL IN STOCKS" SUCCESSFUL COMEDY

Last night the Redmond company presented the laughing success, "A Deal in Stocks," a play of great heart interest and the Redmond company certainly acquitted itself most creditably in this play. Every member of the company was excellently cast and the scenery and equipment were all that could be desired. Mr. Kripps gave a performance of the part "Bertie" that must be seen to be appreciated and every moment he was on the stage he held his audience by the careful manner in which he played his part. Mr. Redmond as a moneyed man from Wall Street, was cast in one of his comedy parts and he was all that could be desired. Miss Viflen, Miss Raymond and the remainder of the company were good in their respective roles.

This play will continue for the remainder of the week and the usual midweek matinee will be given tomorrow.

POUREN IS RE-ARRESTED FOR RUSSIAN CONSUL

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Jan Jenoff Pouren, the Russian refugee who has been in jail here many weeks awaiting the outcome of proceedings brought by the Russian government to have him extradited to Russia to answer charges of arson, attempted murder and burglary, had one minute of freedom today. On a letter received by United States Marshal Henkle from Assistant Secretary of State Adee stating that the state department had declined to issue a warrant for the surrender of Pouren to Russia, Pourer was discharged from custody. While he was thanking the marshal he was re-arrested upon a new warrant issued by Judge Holt in the United States court upon an application of counsel for the Russian government. The prisoner will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Hitchcock, who has been substituted for Commissioner Shields in the second extradition proceedings.

Binns was a crank somewhat over the edge of insanity and was to have been tried on an insanity charge today. He was arrested some weeks ago for tying a stick of dynamite to the door of Health Officer Meade's home, with a note warning him that he would be blown up if he attempted to enforce the vaccination law.

BOY WON'T BE HELD FOR MURDER

Jury Declares Shooting Was Unintentional.

Witnesses at Inquest Tell Very Conflicting Stories Regarding the Affair.

"We the jury find that the deceased met death as the result of being accidentally shot in the neck by Henry Lung."

The foregoing verdict rendered by the coroner's jury which had been called yesterday afternoon to hold an inquest over the body of Carl Berg, who was shot and killed Sunday, freed Henry Lung from the charge of murder which it was thought at first would be preferred against him.

The testimony produced at the inquest was very conflicting owing to the meager intelligence of the witnesses, who were boys ranging in age from 12 to 18 years. All were eyewitnesses of the shooting, but no two told the story exactly the same.

All told of the actual shooting in exactly the same manner. Lung had just shot at some squirrels off in the field and was behind the other three boys, loading his rifle again when the shot was fired.

The first witness called stated that Lung had ordered the small boys to go back, enforcing his demand with swearing and by chasing the lads for some distance. They also stated that Lung had ordered Berg to go back just before he fired the shot.

Henry Lung took the stand in his own defense and denied that he had cursed at the smaller boys or that he had chased them. He stated that he had told them to go back, however.

When the question was asked as to whether or not he had told Berg to go back he said he had but that he had not addressed Berg personally. He addressed three boys who were going with Hawke and himself and Carl Berg was one of the three. He admitted that he did not want Berg to go but denied that he had ever shot at the boy intentionally.

Lung said he had had the rifle about one month and had bought it second hand.

District Attorney Church questioned the lad severely in regard to his literary tastes and as to whether or not he read, and the kind of books or magazines he read. Lung said he read quite a good deal and that he bought dime novels of adventure. He said he had not read many of these novels, however.

Witnesses succeeding Lung directly contradicted his statements of those who had preceded him. They declared that Lung had not chased the small boys or sworn at them, although he had told them to go back.

The testimony in general was so tangled and twisted that it was impossible for the jury to make anything out of the case and they came to the conclusion that the death of Carl Berg was entirely accidental. Berg was 19 years of age.

The funeral over the remains of the dead boy was held yesterday afternoon.

SONS OF SUNNY ITALY INDULGE IN A FIGHT

Both Land in the County Jail, When Officer Appears on the Scene.

As the result of an altercation between two members of the local Italian colony yesterday afternoon, Frank Garndalla and A. Mulanca, were landed in the county jail by Patrolman Goehring. Garndalla was charged with disturbing the peace, while Mulanca must face a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, a dangerous appearing stiletto being found concealed on his person when he was searched by Jailer Jones at the jail. According to the arresting officer, the Italians had indulged too freely in "Dago red," and became quarrelsome, resulting in a fight between the two. Bystanders summoned the officer who stopped the battle between the sons of sunny Italy before blood had been spilled.

LODGING HOUSES MUST REGISTER GUESTS

The Police Receive Orders to Enforce the New City Ordinance.

Acting under instructions from Chief of Police William Shaw, Detective Ben Drenth and Patrolman Trenkhite yesterday paid a visit to every lodging house in the city, informing the proprietor or proprietors of each that the city ordinances recently enacted by the city council demanding that lodging house keepers maintain a register, would be enforced to the letter, beginning today.

The owners of the rooming places were informed that if the law was violated arrests would follow. The ordinance provides that every roomer must be registered on a book open to the inspection of the public, and on the same plan as adopted by the leading hotels.

SAILORS ARE PERMITTED ASHORE AT MANILA

No Danger of Cholera If the Ordinary Precautions Are Taken, It is Thought.

MANILA, Oct. 26.—Following an examination of conditions in Manila by a special medical board which has been dealing with the cholera situation, Rear Admiral G. C. Harber, commanding the cruiser squadron, today, for the first time in many weeks, granted the men of the warships shore liberty. The sailors and marines are forbidden to enter the shacks of the natives, instructed to avoid the Tondo district, where the epidemic has created the greatest ravages and warned to take the precautions about food and drink usual under such circumstances. Hundreds of sailors are ashore today under the new regulations.

The dragnet of the board of health landed but one cholera suspect today. There is general confidence that the sailors are in no danger of contracting the plague as long as they exercise the ordinary precautions.

The cruiser Galveston carried off the honors in the recent target practice of the cruiser squadron.

BURDEN OF ENTERTAINING HEAVY IN PHILIPPINES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Officers of the army stationed at isolated posts of the Philippines have for a long time found that the amount of entertaining of visiting government officials and employes devolving upon them has resulted in a financial burden that many are unable to bear. This condition has grown so burdensome upon many officers that Governor General Smith has issued an order requiring officials to pay full value for all entertainment furnished them by officers or employes and the latter are directed to accept such payment.

TRAMP WILL NOT BEG FOR 30 DAYS

Worked Clever Game on Innocent Victims, Shedding "Real" Tears.

Thomas E. Lawton, a professional tramp, was yesterday sentenced to thirty days in the county jail by Police Judge Briggs, after the prisoner had executed the ancient trick of shedding a few innocent tears before the court, pleading that he was hungry when he arrived in Fresno and it was compulsory for him to beg for sufficient coin to satisfy his hunger. But the previous information which the arresting officer, McKee, had given to the court was a far different version of the affair.

Lawton was taken into custody Saturday night by Patrolman McKee at the corner of J and Tulare streets. The prisoner worked a clever game. He would stand on the edge of the curb until he saw a person who he thought might be an easy mark, pass the spot where he was standing. As the person crossed the street, Lawton would quickly follow his supposed victim and demand that he be given something to get a bite to eat. If he received a piece of coin, or was refused, he again resumed his station on the corner and tackled the next person who crossed the street. Complaint was made to McKee, who arrested him.

When Lawton was searched at the jail, a quarter was found under his hat band, a 50 cent piece was concealed in each shoe, while each pocket contained a nickle or a dime. In one of the coat pockets was a cake of soap, a tooth brush, tooth powder, toilet powder and foot powder. Lawton said he had walked from Merced to this city, but this was not believed as his clothes were not dusty and his shoes were comparatively new.

Haystack Vags Floated

Five vags who were routed from their cosy beds in a haystack near the Southern Pacific roundhouse at 3 o'clock yesterday morning by Patrolman Correll and McLaren were given an hour to hit the road, with further instructions to keep going.

They gave their names as David Lloyd, a glass blower, who just "blew into town," Charles Becker, Frank Boyle, Pat Bradley and Lincoln Fields. Lloyd told the court that he was taken from a train by the Fresno police, against his will, as he was enroute to San Francisco, via the brakebeam line. Fields said he was robbed of all his money and gold watch after his arrival here, although he failed to report the alleged holdup to the authorities.

BOURBON SPECIAL TO ARRIVE TODAY

Phelan Will Address Voters at S. P. Station.

Bell Will Speak in the Barton Opera House in the Evening.

Theodore A. Bell, former Mayor J. D. Phelan of San Francisco and other Democratic leaders will arrive today by special train due at the Southern Pacific depot at 1:05 p. m. The local Democrats have made preparations to welcome the party and expect to have a big turnout at the train. A speakers' stand will be built in depot square from which Bell, Phelan and others will address the crowd. Falkenstein's band will play during the noon hour to attract a gathering and will proceed to the depot in time to greet the arriving special.

The visiting leaders will leave for the south after one hour's stay here, the next stopping place being Fowler, Selma, Kingsburg and other places along the line will be given a few minutes each, the train running on a schedule which will take it to Bakersfield in time for the night meeting in the Oil City.

Bell will leave the train at Tulare and double back to Fresno, arriving on the regular train at 7:17 p. m. He will be met by the largest crowd that can be mustered for the occasion and by a brass band. Delegations representing the Democratic club, the Young Men's Bryan club and the Central committee will lead in the general demonstration. Immediately after the arrival of the train a procession headed by the band, automobiles and enthusiastic Democrats will be formed. A fireworks display, red fire, Roman candles and other illuminations will light up the line of march. The marshal for the parade is Major Ed Jones. He will have J. D. Morgan, J. H. Cassell and Russell Uhler as his aides. The line of march will take in the principal streets of the business district, ending at the Barton opera house, where the evening meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

The opera house doors will be thrown open to the public at 7:30 and the rule of first come, first served, will be adopted. Seats on the platform will be provided for the vice-presidents invited for the occasion. Stage boxes have been reserved for the Republican County Central committee's executive committee, the Trades and Labor council, the mayor and city trustees, the Socialist party and for delegations from Fowler, Sanger, Selma, Kingsburg and Clovis. A corps of ushers in charge of President J. H. Cassell of the Young Men's Bryan club will be on hand. Gus Olson will sing a solo during the evening and there will be music by the band. W. D. Foote will preside.

Lieutenant Richmond Pearson Hobson, who was with Bell on the special train yesterday coming through the Sacramento Valley, is billed to speak tonight in San Francisco and will not be in Fresno today. It is possible he may be one of the speakers at the closing Democratic rally at the Barton on Monday next, the eve of the election.

INVESTIGATE TIMBER IN NORTH MINNESOTA

ST. PAUL, Oct. 26.—Congressmen J. R. Mann and W. H. Ryan, accompanied by the other officials who comprise the congressional committee that has been touring northern Minnesota investigating the supply of spruce timber, arrived in St. Paul today and called on Frederick W. Weyerhauser, the multi-millionaire lumberman, in his office. Weyerhauser was examined as to his knowledge of standing timber and the future supply.

Mr. Weyerhauser said his company had never made an estimate of the supply of spruce wood, for the reason that it had never been considered as worth anything commercially.

Asked about the best way to conserve the forests Weyerhauser said the main thing to do is to prevent fires, and added:

"The only way to prevent fire is to cut out the dead standing timber."

He said the state should look after the prevention of fires and the reforestration of cut over and burned over lands.

Asked as to the future supply of timber in this country, he said that there was an immense stock of timber in the Far West.

TO GIVE RECITAL ON CHURCH ORGAN

Presbyterians' New Instrument to Be Tested.

Professor Louis H. Eaton of San Francisco Will Preside.

Organ recitals in Fresno are of too infrequent occurrence not to be appreciated. The one this evening at the First Presbyterian church at which the church's new organ will be given its first hearing, it attracting much attention. Professor Louis H. Eaton, musical director and organist of Trinity church, San Francisco, will preside at the organ.

Assisting Professor Eaton in the program will be Mrs. Louise Brehany, mezzo soprano; Walter Hastings Olney, bass; Alfred E. Carver, baritone; Miss Martha Sprengle, church organist, and a chorus of fifty voices.

Mr. Eaton is an artist of exceptional talents. His musical gifts have placed him among the foremost organists and directors on the coast and the church considers itself most fortunate in securing him for the opening of its splendid new instrument.

The organ is one of the finest instruments that have been installed in the valley. The thing which characterized this organ as a particularly up-to-date instrument is the electro-pneumatic action through the whole instrument. To the casual observer, there is nothing in the appearance of the organ to mark it as different from other instruments of its class, but it may be interesting to those who hear it played for the first time to know just a bit of its intricate workings.

The motor which runs the wind generating plant also runs a small dynamo that starts the electro-pneumatic action. Every time a key on either manual is pressed a current is started in a tiny battery. This in turn attracts a small magnet; and this attraction of the armature closes a small opening that exhausts the air in a small bellows, which in turn opens a valve admitting air into a pipe controlled by this special key.

This special kind of electro-pneumatic action is the newest thing in mechanical inventions as regards organs and is really a wonderful device. The organ has two manuals but with these two banks of keys more combinations can be obtained than in many three manual instruments with less pipes and fewer combination pistons. The organ has 44 movements in all and 1,419 pipes, and is an instrument of which the church may well be proud.

The program for tonight is to be as follows:

"The Gallant Troubadour" ....Watson

COMPANY CLEARED FROM ALL BLAME

Death of Armenian Boy Is Purely Accidental.

Employes Tell How Boys Jump On and Off Street Cars in Motion.

The Fresno Traction company and its employes were absolved from all blame for the death of Peter Hozarian, the Armenian who fell from a Fresno avenue car a week ago yesterday, at the coroner's inquest which was held yesterday afternoon.

Hozarian fell from the car Monday afternoon and it was not until Thursday that it was realized that the child had been seriously injured. Dr. W. W. Cross was called to the Burnett sanitarium, where he found the lad unconscious and in convulsions. He at once made an examination and discovered that the boy had suffered a fracture of the skull at the time of the accident. Hozarian lived two days after he was taken to the Burnett sanitarium, dying Saturday night.

In the testimony brought out yesterday, it developed that the boys of the Webster school had been in the habit of jumping on the steps of moving cars and then jumping off when they saw the conductor coming. The employes who testified yesterday stated that they had been continually bothered up to the last month, by the boys.

Peter Hozarian was one of the youngsters who was in the habit of jumping on moving cars. When he saw the conductor coming he jumped to the ground and fell backward. The car was immediately stopped and the conductor and motorman went back to find out to what extent the lad had been injured. He got up and when they asked him if he was hurt, he replied by shaking his head in a negative manner. When he said this and started off toward home, the employes thought no more of the matter and started toward town.

W. D. Violet, principal of the Webster school, was an eye witness of the whole affair and stated yesterday that the employes on the car were in no way to blame for the accident.

The funeral over the body of the boy was held from the Armenian Trinity church on Sunday afternoon.

Revolutionists to Be Shot.

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 26.—After trial at Torreon, Mexico, Lugo and Nobledo, leaders of the Mexican revolutionists who raided the town of Ojesas in Mexico last June, have been sentenced to be shot and twelve accomplices each sentenced to fifteen years in the penitentiary.

RANCHER FOUND NOT GUILTY OF BATTERY

Judge Graham Renders Decision Acquitting A. B. Smith of Striking Woman.

Judge Graham yesterday morning announced his decision in the case of the People against A. B. Smith, the Temperance Colony rancher, who was arrested last week at the instance of a young lady of that community on a charge of battery, finding the defendant not guilty. The court held that Smith used only sufficient force to enforce his demand, after he had cautioned the girl to leave the scene and she refrained from complying with his request by advancing toward him in a threatening manner.

Evidence was introduced by Smith that she was stalking a cow on his land and that he approached her demanding that the heifer be removed. Smith asked her to get off the premises but she refused and the defendant pushed her backward with his open hand. In trying to avoid what she thought was an attack she stumbled and fell over a raise in the land. A warrant for Smith's arrest for battery followed.

TO BUILD KITCHEN AND DINING ROOM

At the regular meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. W. C. A. yesterday afternoon, it was reported by the building committee that plans for the furnishing and remodeling of two basement rooms as a kitchen and dining room, were in the hands of the architect. As soon as the plans are finished, the work will be begun.

A membership contest has been arranged for the month of November. The leaders are Mrs. C. C. Lingle and Mrs. A. G. Wahlberg. The losing side will be obliged to provide for the annual reception to be held some time in the latter part of December.

IRON BEAM FALLS ON MAN'S FOOT

W. L. Harris, an employe of the Fresno Transfer company, was treated at the emergency hospital yesterday morning for a badly crushed foot. While unloading some heavy goods from a local warehouse onto a wagon, an iron beam fell a distance of five feet, striking him on the foot. Dr. A. N. Loper was called and dressed the injured member. Harris was later taken to his home.

TO BEGIN ACTUAL WORK IN DECEMBER

Construction of Hanford-Fresno Line to Start Soon.

Date of Opening of New Road, According to Present Plans, Will Be June 1st.

"We are having no trouble whatever in securing rights of way for the Hanford-Fresno line," said F. S. Granger, promoter of the road, last night. "The work is progressing smoothly and everyone is doing all in his power to assist us."

Actual construction on the new line will be commenced about the 15th of December of this year. Nothing will be done, however, until everything is clear.

When the work starts, Fresno will be the shipping point and all work will start from here. Instead of grading and laying track at the same time, the entire line will be graded to Hanford before a single steel rail is laid.

Gangs of men will be put to work at various points along the line and all will work toward Hanford. As soon as the grading is completed, the work of laying rails will start from this city. By this means, the company expects to use its own power and thus lessen expenses to a great extent.

According to present plans, the date of the opening of the line will be June 1, 1909. Although the construction work will be comparatively easy, the company expects to take about six months before actually completing the line.

All bridges will be constructed at the time the grading is done so that when the time comes for laying the rails, all that will be necessary will be to lay them and spike them, the ballasting following directly behind.

Promoter Granger will open an office in Fresno within the next five or six days. He states that inasmuch as the Fresno terminal will be the big terminal, it will be necessary for him to spend the greater part of his time here.

VENEZUELA REJECTS THE DUTCH DEMANDS

Suggests That Confidential Agent Be Sent from Netherlands to Adjust Trouble.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Tuesday, Oct. 20th (via Willemstadt, Curacao, Oct. 26)—President Castro, in his answer to the second Netherlands note, has declined to revoke his decree of May 14th prohibiting the trans-shipment of goods for Venezuelan ports at Curacao, which has been so obnoxious to the people of that island.

This answer was made September 12th. The president expressed surprise that The Netherlands' government should ask for the revocation of this decree after acknowledging Venezuela's right to issue it. Continuing, he asks The Netherlands to send a confidential agent to Caracas to arrange the terms of an amicable settlement of the differences between the two governments.

The chief of the artillery branch of the Venezuelan army has completed the preparations for the defense of La Guaira. In anticipation of a naval demonstration by Holland before that port on November 1, shells have been distributed to all the modern guns installed in the forts on the mountain side above La Guaira.

President Castro's health is still delicate and causes anxiety to his friends.

Ships Leave Pernambuco.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The United States lighthouse board received information today that the flotilla of lightship and lighthouse tenders which sailed from New York for the Pacific coast left Pernambuco for Montevideo yesterday.

Seriously Injured in Football.

LOGAN, Utah, Oct. 26.—It developed today that Thomas Evans, right guard of the Utah Agricultural College, who was injured in the game Saturday with the football team of the Colorado School of Mines, sustained a fracture of the first dorsal vertebra. An operation has been performed, but today Evans is unconscious, with but slight hope entertained for his recovery.

PROHIBITION PAYS SAYS EVANGELIST

Dr. Henry Quotes Figures Against Saloon.

No Workman Can Afford to Vote for Retention of Saloon, He Declares.

"Does Prohibition Pay?" was the prelude to Dr. Henry's sermon last evening. Yet he made the prelude in some respects the main feature of the discourse, marshaling facts which he declared could not be gainsaid.

"Men naturally ask this question, whenever the agitation against the saloon begins," he said. "They are honest in it; they really want to know whether there will be any material loss to the nation, the state, or the city if the saloon should be abolished and if prohibition should come to stay. These questions I will now undertake to answer from facts. Facts are the finger of God."

As more general arguments he said that the saloon cost the nation three billion dollars a year; and the revenue the nation received amounted to only $300,000 a year. "Or in other words," said the speaker, "the nation loses $9 for every dollar it puts into the saloon business. Of course, this is not to speak of the loss in strength and morals; but considering it only from the economic side the saloon is the poorest business institution sanctioned by the government."

But the doctor stated that he would confine himself to more specific statements and he gave the following:

"Kansas is a prohibition state. Of the 105 counties in that state, thirty-five have no county jails, and thirty-seven have an criminal cases on the docket at the present time. Besides, there are forty-one counties without a single pauper and twenty-five have no poor houses," he said.

Saloon as Economic Factor.

"Take the town of Rochester, New York. It has $6,455,000 invested in breweries, employing 434 men and paying in wages, $351,000. This same city has $3,281,000 invested in boots and shoes, just about half of the money invested in the beer business, yet the boot and shoe companies employ 4,868 men, paying them $2,031,000. That is to say, one-half the investment in making shoes employs eleven times as many men, and pays five times the wages as making beer. Is any comment necessary?"

But Dr. Henry said that he had more startling figures and hoped that the unbelieving would listen without bias. "Take the case of Long Beach, nearer home. The banishment of booze from that city has been the cause of remarkable prosperity. The population has increased 166 per cent in three years. Real estate values have advanced from three-fold to ten-fold in five years. Bank deposits have increased 780 per cent in three years."

Dr. Henry said that no individual workman could afford to vote for the retention of the saloon in this or in any other community. "The United States department of labor states," said he, "that 72 per cent of the agriculturalists, 79 per cent of the manufacturers, 80 per cent of the tradesmen, and 90 per cent of the railroad officials discriminate against men who drink."

"If these figures are not sufficient," said the minister, "just listen at the statement of the secretary of the Competent Temperance Union. One-third of the population and three-fifths of the area of that state is under prohibition. Ninety-seven towns are dry and seventy-one are wet. The wet towns furnish three-fourths of the crimes outside of drunkenness and over nine-tenths of the rest of that cause. Ninety-seven per cent of the convicts of the state penitentiary are there because of drink."

The speaker declared that what prohibition had done for other cities it would do for Fresno. And why not?" he asked. "Take other towns. There are 157 towns in this great state of California from which the saloon has been banished."

Saved in a Moment.

The subject of the main discourse was, "Saved in a Moment." The evangelist took his text from the last verse of the tenth chapter of Mark, where Christ heals the blind man. He said that this blind man was deeply conscious of his need and cried out to the passing Christ for healing. "There he drowned in his soul the faith that the Savior could and would heal him. There is no gospel for the man who has not consciousness of great need. When a man had rather have the forgiveness of his sin than anything in all creation, you may depend that Christ will pardon that man. Then, the blind man made his appeal in the right direction. He appealed directly to the Christ. He did not appeal to John or to Peter or to the crowd, but went straight to the feet of the Master and came seeing. Here he evinced an unswerving determination to get to Christ. He laid aside his garment, so says the record, and made his way in spite of the difficulties to the one and the only one who could heal him. And when you are willing to lay aside everything and in simplicity go to Jesus, he will receive you and do by you in a moral and a spiritual sense that he did by the blind man in a physical one. His quick deliverance from his malady followed his faith and his effort. The man immediately received his sight. So God can save you the moment that you are willing to put off sin."

Dr. Henry will speak this afternoon at the Congregational church at 3 o'clock. At 7 p. m. he will speak on the street opposite the Grand Central. Then at 7:30 he will deliver a prelude on the saloon and follow it with an address on the subject, "Up Against Five Big Things."
